POLICEMAN ACCUSED OF BRUTALITY

GIRL WITNESS DEFENDS SAMMARCO

DEAL ON FOR SALE OF RED SOX

'REVOLVER IN COAT OF PRISONER'

Witness Says She Had Sammarco's Weapon When Clancey Was Slain

The revolver of Joseph Sammarco, self-confessed murderer of Patrolman William G. Clancey, was in a pocket of his overcoat which was held by Miss Catherine Fallon of No. 218 Cambridge street at the time of the shooting, according to her testimony at his trial today.

The witness also stated that she saw the fatal shot fired, but that the man who fired it was unknown to her. Miss Fallon said that she knew Sammarco before the dance.

Owen Gaffney, counsel for the defendant, Max Krulevitz, a member of the orchestra, said that he saw Patrolman Clancey draw a revolver from his pocket before he was shot. The witness also testified that Patrolman Di Franco, who was present in plain clothes, also ourished a revolver.

SAW CLANCEY STRUCK.

Bert Myers, leader of the orchestra, testified under cross-examination that Clancey walked through the hall telling the men to take their hats off and to stop smoking. He said that he saw one dancer, a stranger to him, strike the policeman on the jaw.

William J. Mullen, Jr., of No. 16A Elm street, Charlestown, testified that men were smoking in the corridor, which he declared was the custom there, and said that he saw Patrolman Di Franco smoking there.

When he was asked by Attorney Grady if he heard Di Franco say to Clancey, "Go to it and get these 'guys' and I'll stand behind you," the witness said he had not heard the conversation between the two policemen.

"We will convict Joseph Sam-

Cut in Sugar Price Expected Soon

A reduction in the price of sugar to the consumer may be expected in the near future following the announcement of 14 cents a pound by the Howell Refinery Company in New York. The National Sugar Company of New York has announced a reduction of 1 cent a pound that was a surprise to the trade. At the same time the larger refinery officials hereabout say that a reduction in price is imminent.

The National Company's new figure is 12¾ cents a pound, and at this rate sugar would retail profitably at the fair price of 13 cents. Since the refineries have on hand considerable stocks of sugar contracted for at the old price, it is not expected that the new price will immediately benefit the public.

BOHEMIAN SINKS, 7 FEARED LOST

Liner Breaks in Two and Goes Down on Sambro Ledges, N. S.

Seven men of the crew of the Boston-to-Liverpool liner Bohemian are believed to have drowned today when the big ship broke in two and sank on Sambro Ledges, Nova Scotia.

The sixty-four passengers, including twenty-five from Greater Boston, were removed hours before the breakup, and are safe in Halifax.

First news of the disaster reached Boston via the Navy Yard, and was without details. It is assumed that search is being made for the missing men, however, and that the remaining 153 members of the crew have been landed.

The big Leyland liner, a former army transport, impaled herself on the jagged ledges of Cape Sambro early yesterday during a blinding snowstorm. Help was rushed from Halifax, twenty-five miles north.

Heavy seas continued to pound the ship while the rescuers worked, and the transfer of the passengers was effected only at the greatest peril to the relief parties. Cotton worth thousands of dollars was thrown overboard during the night in an effort to lighten the cargo and save the ship.

The liner Canada was standing by when the battered Bohemian parted and sank.

The loss of the Bohemian will fall heavily on Boston marine insurance underwriters, most of her $2,000,000 cargo being insured here.

The cargo included 15,000 bushels of wheat, 637 bales of Egyptian cotton, 160 tons of frozen pigs, fish and other refrigerator cargo, 75 tons of rolled oats, 120 tons of spool wood, 60 tons of hair, 78 bales of American cotton, 1,000 bales of cotton waste, 250 tons of leather, 11 automobiles, 2,500 boxes of apples and 800 tons of mixed merchandise.

Boston Steamship Goes Aground Off Newport, R. I.

The steamship Cedar Springs, owned by the Coastwise Transportation Company of Boston, grounded today on Rose Island, off Newport, R. I., according to wireless messages received at the Boston Navy Yard.

The message said the vessel was resting easy and might be floated at high tide. Tugs from the naval coaling station were ordered to the assistance of the Cedar Springs.

The cutter Acushnet, towing the steamer Hilton, picked up yesterday drifting without fuel off Nantucket, was also expected to arrive in time to assist in pulling the Cedar Springs off the flats.

HOLLANDS MAY GIVE $800,000

Transaction Now Under Way May Include Fenway Park at Total of $1,000,000

The Boston Red Sox are to be sold, probably to the Holland Brothers of this city, originators of the chain of former wine stores known as the Holland System.

It became known today that persistent rumors to this effect were true, and that a deal involving about $800,000 was already underway for the transfer of the former World Champions by Proprietor Harry Frazee.

Inquiry at the Commonwealth avenue headquarters of the Red Sox Corporation today disclosed the fact that D. E. Holland was representing the firm in the negotiations.

Mr. Holland refused to say anything definite at present, beyond the fact that he had been "approached" on the subject, and had it under advisement.

PASSING OF FRAZEE.

The deal is taken by those familiar with baseball politics to mean the end of Frazee as a baseball magnate in Boston. Frazee's unpopularity in Boston fandom has long been recognized as a drawback to the American League club and a hindrance to any constructive effort to put it back in the good graces of the public.

The deal as rumored contemplates the transfer of all Frazee's holdings in the Red Sox to the Holland interests. It is further reported that it will take in the purchase of Fenway Park from Joseph J. Lannin by the Hollands, the sum of $1,000,000 covering both purchases.

WILL END OLD POLICIES.

The Holland Brothers are expected to execute a complete reversal of the policies which Mr. Frazee has been pursuing, and which have brought him into disrepute as the owner of the Boston club.

It is understood that there will be no more of the disastrous deals by which the club has been wrecked as a league contender.

The Holland Brothers have since the advent of prohibition been engaged in many operations, with offices at No. 46 Milk street.

NANTUCKET BOAT IS FAST IN THE ICE

Nantucket, March 2.—The steamship Sankaty, with about a dozen passengers and freight and mail, is stuck in the ice about one-half mile off shore today. The vessel headed for New Bedford, but became jammed in the ice and was unable to move. Authorities are waiting to see whether the receding tide will break up the ice. The supply of coal is rapidly dwindling, with anthracite selling at $16 a ton. The postoffice and bank were closed because of lack of fuel. Summer cottages are being stripped of whatever coal they have. Food is scarce.

GAINS IN EXCHANGE OF STOCKS IS TAXABLE

The Supreme Court decided today that the exchange of stock of an old corporation for that issued by a new corporation constitutes a sale and is accordingly subject to taxation if there is gain in the transaction. The decision was in the case of Hannah T. Osgood against William D. T. Trefrey, Massachusetts tax commissioner. It was contended that she gained $181 in the formation of the new Draper Company of Hopedale.

Italian Knight Brings a Rare New Wine

Mrs. Manuel J. Raposo, voted the most beautiful woman on the Canopic (at left), and Mrs. S. F. Chandler of Savannah, Ga.

The Canopic reached Boston today from Italy and the Azores, and on board she has in addition to hundreds of other interesting personages an Italian knight who has come to save America.

The Cavalier Ufficio, Salvatore Cassisa, well known Italian inventor, has brought to this stricken country a wine which has the taste and bouquet of the oldest vintages. The kick is lacking, but everything else is there.

The Cavalier wishes America to understand that this is no grape juice or any of its kindred, but a real wine. He is sure that America has only to taste it to welcome it and hail him as a savior.

In addition the Cavalier has an

UNIONS ACCEPT PEACE PLAN

Washington, March 2.—Representatives of thirteen railway unions today agreed to accept under protest President Wilson's offer to appoint a bipartisan tribunal which will try to work out a wage peace program between the roads and their employes.

All of the shop craft unions agreed to the proposition with the exception of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes, who number about 400,000. They took no action on the matter either way and it is consid-

LIQUOR BILL SIGNED BY EDWARDS

New Jersey Governor's Action Opens Fight Between State and Nation

By International News Service.

Trenton, N. J., March 2.—Governor Edwards at noon today signed the bill legalizing the manufacture, sale and transportation of alcoholic beverages containing 3.50 per cent. alcohol after the formal declaration of peace has been declared.

A battery of cameras and motion picture machines recorded the event, which signalized the opening of a clash between State and national authorities on the liquor question.

The bill reached the Governor's office today after being passed last night by the Senate with a vote of 12 to 8. The Assembly passed it last week, 37 to 21.

Arms Supplied to Federal Liquor Agents

By International News Service.

Washington, March 2.—Dry law agents are being prepared for war. Huge quantities of guns and ammunition, a part of the surplus war equipment, were ordered today to be given immediately to prohibition agents "for equalization."

Commissioner Roper, dry law enforcement chief, directed that all arms, ammunition belts, scabbards and holsters now held by internal revenue collectors be turned over to supervising prohibition agents for distribution to the thousands of men constituting the Federal whiskey detective force.

Officials denied that the heavy arming of agents indicated that wholesale raids were scheduled. They did not deny, however, that agents are preparing for activity in some sections where illicit distilling is reported on a wholesale scale.

Trouble has been brewing for some time between enforcement agents and moonshiners of the mountain districts. Officials admitted that the stage is being set for a roundup of such violators.

Clergymen will not escape inspection at the hands of Federal dry agents. Just to put the "lid" on a little tighter, men of the cloth must undergo searching inquiry to establish their right to use wines for sacramental purposes.

Federal prohibition directors and all other subordinates, in a lengthy letter of instructions, today were directed to scrutinize carefully the returns filed each month by dealers and wine makers who have shipped or delivered wine to rabbis, ministers, priests or other duly authorized church officials for sacramental use.

Signs of Cut in Cost of Clothing—Soon

By International News Service.

Washington, March 2.—Signs of an early drop in the price of wearing apparel were given today in bankers' returns to the Treasury.

Varied conditions which will contribute to a price slump are cited by the reports, among which were reductions in exports. With the peak reached in foreign demand for cotton fabrics, reports show that mills are not laying in raw material.

Dealers do not expect that the 100 per cent. increase they are now reaping on this class of goods can be much longer maintained.

Trade conditions in the wholesale markets were prosperous, the report said, with jobbers reporting the largest bookings in history. Reduction in leather exports forecasts a cut in prices to consumers.

ALLIED LOAN TO GO TO GERMANS

International Fund Is to Be Used to Put Country on Its Feet

By International News Service.

London, March 2.—Sir Auckland Geddes, the new British ambassador to the United States, revealed today that the allies are sanctioning an international loan to Germany.

This loan will be used for the purpose of putting Germany on her feet economically. Germany's liability for payment of the loan is to take precedence over the paymept of reparations (war indemnity).

The decision by the allies is understood to be part of the general plan for rehabilitation of Europe which the supreme council has had under consideration here for the past few days.

Revelation of the allies' intention to float the loan was made by Sir Auckland Geddes in the course of a speech at a luncheon given by Viscountess Astor to the American press correspondents.

The supreme council today decided to establish an international arrangement whereby food and raw materials will be rationed throughout all Europe.

The naval aspects of the Turkish settlement were taken up by the supreme council this afternoon. Walter Hume Long, first lord of the Admiralty, and Lord Beatty, commander of the British grand fleet, were called in for consultation.

WILLIAM H. CROWLEY CHOSEN COURT OFFICER

William H. Crowley, a Boston policeman for nearly twenty years and for ten years crossing officer at Massachusetts and Commonwealth avenues, today was appointed court officer and will begin his duties tomorrow.

PRISONER KICKED, IS CHARGE

Reported That Jealousy Was Behind Assault in Cell at Charlestown

Charges that Patrolman John J. O'Connor, a new member of the department, attached to the Charlestown police station, beat and kicked Joseph E. Murphy, a prisoner, in a cell in that station are the subject of investigation.

A trial board will hear the complaint in a short time.

According to some of those who appear to know all there is to know regarding the case O'Connor was jealous of Murphy owing to the fact that a certain young woman of the district was friendly to him.

It is further alleged that when O'Connor called at this girl's home on one occasion he found Murphy already there. He was unwelcome as the story goes, and was asked to leave.

Then it was, according to the stories that O'Connor declared he would even the score. On the night of Monday, February 23, Murphy was arrested charged with drunkenness, by Patrolman Crawford of the Charlestown station.

Murphy was lodged in a cell and later, according to witnesses, O'Connor chanced to see him there. It is alleged that O'Connor, under some pretense or other, obtained the cell

CONGRESS WILL INVESTIGATE ALLEGED GRAIN MANIPULATION

Washington, March 2.—Congress will undertake a complete investigation of the revelations of the Federal Grand Jury at Spokane, Wash., that speculators and officers of the Grain Corporation were engaged in a manipulation of the grain market.

An inquiry will also be made to determine why the Department of Justice failed to act on the request of the Grand Jury, which asked for a simultaneous investigation at all grain centres in the country.

A congressional investigation into Chicago and Milwaukee offices of the corporation in line with charges of the Spokane grand jury will be launched soon. It was reported among grain men here today.

Hardly had the Senate met at noon when a demand was voiced for an investigation. Senator Fernald, Republican, of Maine, had inserted in the record the Boston American's exclusive story of the failure of the Department of Justice to act on the report. He inserted also the complete report of the Grand Jury, which appeared in the Boston American yesterday morning.

Senator Fernald declared that an investigation should at once be made.

Senator Gronna of North Dakota announced that he would summon the Senate Committee on Agriculture to determine a course of action.

STIRS PALMER TO ACT.

Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, said that he would probably introduce a resolution today empowering the Committee on Commerce to investigate at once.

Meantime there was much activity at the Department of Justice. Attorney-General Palmer and his chief assistant, Judge Charles B. Ames, were in conference most of the afternoon. Palmer sent out word through his secretary that "the story in the American was so manifestly untrue that the Attorney-General feels called upon to give a definite statement of facts."

The veracity of the Grand Jury report, which has been in the department since early February and has not been acted upon, was not questioned.

Interest by members of the House in the situation was equally as keen as that in the Senate. The matter did not figure on the floor, however.

Representative Tincher, Republican, of Kansas, declared the police of the Department of Justice to start another investigation, rather than carry out the recommendations of the first Grand Jury, was ridiculous.

GRONNA PLANS PROBE.

Senator Gronna later outlined two courses, either of which the Senate Committee on Agriculture, of which he is chairman, will follow when the members meet in special session. They are:

1—To direct the Attorney-General to inform the Senate of every thing he has done in the matter.

2—To adopt a resolution which will be presented to the Senate, asking that a complete investigation be made.

Senator Gronna declared the Grand Jury report verified all the statements he had made against the grain corporation in connection with advocacy of his bill providing for its abolition. He said:

"Julius Barnes has 39,000 licenses and Herbert Hoover had the vast publicity organization of the Food Administration, which is, to a certain extent, in existence to fight me.

"I have evidence that Barnes sent thousands of telegrams urging the people to wire Washington to oppose my bill to abolish the Grain Corporation."

The American expose has the effect of revealing the tremendous amount of propaganda circulated by Barnes and his associates in their efforts to defeat the Gronna bill.

Barnes Urges Congress to Extend Guarantee 30 Days

Washington, March 2.—Following the American's expose of the alleged gigantic wheat conspiracy, it was learned here that Julius H. Barnes, head of the United States Grain Corporation, within the past few days has urged Congress to extend the life of the government's minimum price wheat guarantee and of the Grain Corporation.

The act providing for the guarantee, which carries appropriation of a billion dollars to cover any losses sustained by the Grain Corporation in carrying out the guarantee, will expire on June 1. Barnes and his associates would have it continued until June 30.

The information that officials of the grain corporation are seeking to extend the guarantee came from Representative Gilbert Haugen, Republican, of Iowa, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture. He made public two letters on the subject and the draft of a bill received from Barnes.

In view of the reported fear of the wheat speculators, who are said to have cornered a large supply of wheat, they will be ruined unless they can get rid of their holdings prior to the harvesting of the 1920 crop, Barnes' effort to have the minimum price guarantee extended is considered highly importune.

With the coming expiration of the guarantee, the speculators face the probable subsequent recall by the banks of millions which they have loaned on warehouse receipts.

Barnes indicates in one of his communications to Chairman Haugen that he believes a lower price level will follow the expiration of the government's guarantee.

PERSHING SENDS NOTE OF THANKS TO PETERS

A letter of thanks to Mayor Peters and the citizens of Boston for the welcome extended during his visit and for the city's loyalty and unstinted support during the war, was received at city hall today from General John J. Pershing. "I gain real says it gave him "a great deal of pleasure to have an opportunity of visiting Boston and of making a few words in appreciation of the loyal and unstinted support which the city rendered the army during the war."

TWO HELD FOR SALE OF JAMAICA GINGER

Bella Leibell, who conducts a store on Phillips street, West End, was arraigned before Judge Burke charged with selling Jamaica ginger to a policeman in plain clothes. Later Sergeant Brooks entered the place and found sixteen bottles of the medicine. She was released on $100 for appearance on March 10. Fred Nye, drug clerk in a store on Court street, was held in $500 charged with selling Jamaica ginger to the same man. The case was continued until March 8.

Murphy's brother is authority for the statement that while one officer held the prisoner O'Connor punched and kicked him. According to this brother Murphy suffered injuries to his back, his arms and legs were bruised and one eye discolored.

Murphy reported the case to the officer on duty who in turn called it to the attention of Captain Michael J. Goff. There were two other prisoners in cells at the time, Patrick Lucey and John F. Flanagan. They were interviewed by Captain Goff, who also talked the matter over with Murphy.

On Tuesday morning it was necessary to call Murphy's case three times in court before he answered the charge. He was being questioned in the police station at the time. Later he was adjudged guilty of drunkenness and fined $15.

Captain Goff reported the facts to Superintendent Crowley and charges were preferred against the officer. Flanagan told the story regarding the girl in the case, saying that Murphy related it to him.

Captain Goff today admitted to an American reporter that there had been charges made against Murphy. He was inclined to minimize the matter but admitted that Murphy had claimed he was assaulted in his cell.

CARRIED DOWN LADDER IN AMESBURY FIRE

Amesbury, March 2.—Mrs. Edward N. Cummings and her young son were carried down a ladder from the second story window, and her husband, who is president of the C. W. J. Murphy Company, and three servants made their escape through flames which broke out when fire broke out in the house early today. The damage, estimated by the police, was $15,000. The fire started in the basement of the house, a handsome three-story frame structure, and worked its way to the upper rooms before discovery. Two alarms were sounded.

WARMER WEATHER IS DUE TOMORROW

Fair tonight and Wednesday, with rising temperature and moderate easterly winds, is the forecast of Weatherman Smith for Boston and environs. Smith stated that the temperature would rise to between 30 and 40. There will probably be rain or snow Tuesday or Thursday night. The coldest this morning was 18 below at Prince Albert and at Stonecliff, in the British Northwest. The lowest in the United States was 12 below at Northfield, Vt.

DISAGREE IN SUIT TO SHARE IN COMPANY'S PROFITS

Salem, March 2.—Today the jury in the case of Otis M. Wilkins, selectman of Middleton, against George H. Glover, of Salem, administrator of the estate of Daniel Glover, of Marblehead, reported a disagreement. Wilkins sought to recover on an alleged verbal agreement to pay him one-sixth of the profits of the Glover Shoe Machinery Manufacturing business, in addition to a salary.

WOMAN VICTIM OF FIRE DIES IN HOSPITAL

Mary F. Gillespie, thirty-six, who was severely burned last Friday afternoon at her home, No. 64 Hollis street, East Boston, while sitting in front of the kitchen range, died at the East Boston Relief Hospital. Her funeral will be held Thursday morning, when a solemn high mass of requiem at St. Mary's Star of the Sea Church will be given. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

Gronna Aroused by Hearst's Expose

Washington, March 2.—Senator Gronna of North Dakota made this comment on the necessity for a congressional investigation of the Grain Corporation:

"I had considerable data with reference to the charges made against Max H. Houser, vice-president of the United States Grain Corporation, when I made my speech in the Senate on February 12.

"I did not use it, first, because the information was given me by parties whom I had reason to believe are not under a license by the Grain Corporation and I did not wish to cause them any trouble, and another reason was that I did not have the time to make the necessary investigation.

"But now since the Hearst papers have printed the report of the Federal Grand Jury, together with other data, it seems to me that it will be necessary for Congress to take some action.

"A resolution ought to be introduced and passed directing the Department of Justice to make a thorough investigation of this whole matter.

"The Hearst papers are again entitled to much credit for their fearless attitude on questions affecting the public welfare."

ered probable that a strike of these employes is forthcoming.

A strike order already is in existence, having been scheduled to go into effect on February 17, but having been held over at the request of the President.

President Wilson will notify the carriers and the employes by letter that he is ready to appoint the tribunal.

The work of the bi-partisan board will be to expedite the work of the permanent labor board, created under the Esch-Cummins bill, which restored the roads to private ownership. It will make a complete investigation and collect data, the results of which will be turned over to the permanent board.

Suggestions as to the personnel of the bi-partisan tribunal will be received by the White House from the carriers and the employes' representatives. While the employes' representatives in their conference agreed to accept under protest the government's proposal, their resentment against the whole situation was in no way lessened. An agreement was reached only after a stormy session which lasted far into the night.

They also decided to go ahead and present their final wage demands while the tribunal is attempting to find a way out of the difficulties.

Ruling on Coal Wages Near

Washington, March 2.—Decision of the bituminous coal commission in the wage controversy between the operators and miners, which came to a climax last Winter in the general strike on November 1, may be submitted to President Wilson on March 10, it was learned today.

The commission is engaged in formulating its decision, and although differences have arisen between the members they entertain the hope of being able to arrive at an unanimous conclusion.

Chairman Henry M. Robinson is said to be against a larger advance than the 14 per cent. Commissioners Hembarsel Peale and John P. White have both voiced the opinion that a material increase should be given.

In Mr. Peale's case, about 28 per cent., and in Mr. White's case, about 40 per cent.

A general strike of miners on April 1 in the event that a satisfactory wage advance is not granted, has been discussed by the officials of the United Mine Workers.

invention for an aeroplane which will rise vertically from the deck of a ship and descend in the same restricted area. Further he has an automatic switch for railroads, but these mere industrial innovations pale beside the other great benefaction.

Mrs. Manuel J. Raposo, voted the most beautiful woman on the liner, saw her first snow when the big steamship pulled into Boston harbor. She was delighted with the sight and expressed her pleasure at choosing this year to see a real northern Winter. Her husband has represented a Boston shoe firm in Spain for years.

Charles D. Malaguti, Boston shoe manufacturer, arrived from Italy, where he has set up a factory, and he declared that American shoes cannot supply the demand over there. He decries the talk of social unrest in Italy, said that all strikes had been amicably settled, and the one great source of worry there was the depreciation of currency.

One tragic incident marred the perfect trip from the Azores when Pasquale Bertina, Virgin, an eighteen-year-old girl, died on February 24. She was on the way to her uncle at Bellaire, Ohio.

Mr. Malaguti, though the girl was entirely unknown to him, paid all embalming charges on that she might have her body sent home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Chandler of Savannah, Ga., returned from Milan, where they have been for the past two years. There were twenty-eight saloon passengers, 331 cabin and 1330 steerage passengers.

ANOTHER DEATH FROM GRIP AT LONG ISLAND

READY TO OPEN CAPE CANAL

Coolidge Asks Baker to Agree to Protect the Company's Rights

The Boston, Cape Cod and New York Canal Company today agreed to reopen the Cape Cod Canal, provided its rights in the present litigation with the government were protected.

This fact became known when Governor Coolidge telegraphed Secretary of War Baker, informing him of the promise of the company and asking if he would agree that the rights should not be prejudiced.

He pointed out that it was most important that the canal be reopened in order to permit passage of barges loaded with coal, of which this section is short.

The company yesterday filed a petition in the United States District Court asking that the final entry of judgment be made directing the government to pay the company the award given by a jury a year ago for the canal. At that time a jury decided the canal to be worth over $16,000,000, but the government offered the company only about half that amount.

When the canal and its were turned back to their owners the canal was handed over to the company which built it. It refused to accept the canal, claiming there was nothing in the contract with the War Department, at the time it was taken over, that provided for its being returned. The government refused to recognize the claim of the company and ordered the canal closed.

The matter then was taken up by Governor Coolidge with Secretary Baker and former Director-General Hines. They stated that the company was the only organization that had the power to operate the canal, as it was no longer under the control of the War Department. The canal, they asserted, was in the same class as the railroads which were turned back to their original owners.

A fleet of coal-laden craft was tied up in Buzzards' Bay, with others on the way. General Manager H. L. Colbeth stated that the entire force of 150 canal employes could be back at work inside an hour.

New Cold Snap Freezes Rails

Set back by the cold snap following yesterday's thaw, railroads today again were forced to dig out the tracks previously cleared, and as a result were unable to lift any embargoes.

Some progress was reported, however, by the Boston & Maine and New Haven roads, but the Boston & Maine terminals in Charlestown, Cambridge and Somerville. At these places a force of 2,000 men was put to work today to clear tracks which were dug out yesterday. The thaw, freezing last night, formed a coating of ice in many places twenty inches thick. A slight freezup also was reported on the Newburyport branch of the Boston & Maine.

Several hundred volunteers were at work on the roads, and many freight cars were "spotted," or released from the ice and placed in position to be moved as soon as the tracks were ready to receive them.

The New Haven suffered less from the ice than the Boston & Maine, but a force of 900 volunteers was called out today to help clear the road. The road were said to be Fr[illegible]m, Plainville and Stoughton J[illegible]. At Framingham, the shops of the Dennison Manufacturing Company were open and expected to clear the yards today.

A heavy locomotive with teeth on the wheels was brought today as an experiment at Stoughton Junction in an attempt to free the rails of ice.

The only coal arrivals by water today were the steamships Victorious with 10,535 tons and the Eyota with 2,500 tons.

The New Haven Railroad is ready to accept shipments of freight, with preference given to perishable goods and foodstuffs. No less than carload lots, provided the point to which they are shipped is prepared to accept them.

Carload lots cannot be taken care of as yet, as the cars are not available.

MRS. NELSON, FIGHTING DIVORCE, IS IDENTIFIED AS "MRS. GREEN"

CLERK AT HOTEL IS WITNESS

She Stayed Overnight With the Man Named in Suit, Knox Testifies

Mrs. Eva Guptill Nelson, who is being sued in the Essex Cambridge divorce court by Ernest Nelson of Winchester for infidelity, today was identified by William Knox, a New York hotel clerk, as the "Mrs. James B. Green" who was registered at the Bluffford House, New York, and who stayed overnight there with J. B. Green, which is named by Mr. Nelson in his suit.

Knox was one of seven New York witnesses for whose convenience the redirect examination of Nelson was suspended in order that the visitors might testify.

ACCOMPANIED BY CHILD.

The Stratford is at No. 11 East Thirty-second street, New York, four blocks from the Prince George Hotel, where Mrs. Nelson was living at the time. According to testimony, a child accompanied "Mrs. Green" when she entered the hotel with Green, and was left in the room while the couple went out in the evening.

Knox also identified a photograph of Green taken by a Boston photographer, and told of visiting Green at his New York office with a detective and of recognizing him immediately as the man who stopped at the hotel and registered with "Mrs. Green." He produced a loose leaf from the hotel register.

SENATOR IN COURT.

The testimony of Knox created a sensation in the court room. When asked:

"Have you seen the woman supposed to be Mrs. Green since that time?" he replied.

"I saw her in the courtroom here this morning."

Q—And you were informed that her real name was Mrs. Nelson? A—Yes.

Knox testified that the couple registered about 9:30 a. m. as "Mr. and Mrs. James B. Green of Boston," and were assigned to Room No. 512; that he saw them again about 7:30, when they returned to the hotel and went upstairs; and about 8:30, when they went out; and once more at 10, when they returned and went towards the hotel cafe, after which he saw them the first time the next morning.

Q—When did you next see the woman supposed to be Mrs. J. B. Green? A.—The next morning, when the hotel bill was settled. She was with Mr. Green, who paid the bill. I have not seen her since until this morning in court here.

In response to questions by Attorney Walter I. Badger, Nelson told of touring the city of Havana with three men friends in December, 1918.

The testimony was of such a nature that Nelson at one time refused to answer a question, saying, "I think it is now time for the ladies to leave the courtroom."

His attorney told him not to mind the ladies but to answer the question. There were four women in the courtroom, but none of them left.

EXCLUDED FROM TRIAL.

Nelson admitted going ashore on December 9, 1918, at Havana. He said that he wanted to see the sights.

He testified that his companions on this trip ashore were Roland G. Monroe and John M. Burrough. Later they were joined by another man in Havana.

Judge Sanderson finally barred all women spectators from the court.

For the first time since the Nelson divorce suit began Mrs. Nelson appeared in court today.

She slipped in unnoticed by any save her own counsel, and from one of the spectators' benches listened for a short time to the testimony of her husband, as he told of a night-seeing party of himself and companions at Havana.

Later she was excluded from the courtroom, with all other women spectators.

Mrs. Nelson, whom her husband charges with infidelity with James B. Green, walked about the corridors after being excluded from the trial.

She is twenty-nine years old and a pronounced brunette. She wore a close fitting toque, and a fine fur coat.

TRAILED MRS. NELSON.

Nelson admitted having employed detectives to train his wife on five different occasions. The first time, he testified, was from December 28, 1918, to January 21, 1919, and the last time in November and December of 1919.

Witness said that Hurlburg, his counsel, had told him when to have the detectives follow.

Q.—You spoke about objecting to your wife dancing at the Technoi Club because she did not wear corsets. Isn't it true that she seldom wore corsets? A.—No, sir.

Widow of Martyred Patrolman Here

This picture of Mrs. William G. Clancey, wife of the slain policeman, was taken today by a Boston American photographer.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Clancey, widow of the murdered Boston policeman, called at the Boston American office today and was presented with a check for $881.52, drawn on the National Shawmut Bank. This amount represents contributions to the Fund raised by the American for the benefit of the widow.

Dressed in mourning, and temporarily childless, as her little son is ill with pneumonia in England, Mrs. William G. Clancey, widow of Boston's martyred police officer, arrived in Boston today from England.

Mrs. Clancey was received by her parents-in-law, and grimly enough, her first excursion today was to the court room, where Clancey's alleged slayer is on trial.

The little boy, Ray, will come to America as soon as he is sufficiently recovered, and will be educated to take his father's place in the community as an American citizen. He will be brought over by a sister of Mrs. Clancey, who plans to make her permanent home here. The little boy's passage, in fact, is already secured, having been purchased by the young father before the tragedy.

Mrs. Clancey was greatly touched by the sympathy expressed to her on her arrival by everyone she met.

"I don't know how to thank the American for his kindness," she said. It was evident that the effort to speak of her loss was painful, as she flushed and choked.

It was evident, however, that the boy is an inexpressible comfort to her. Although three and a half years old, he has never been in this country. This is not Mrs. Clancey's first visit here, as she came over with her husband last May, to prepare a home for the child before sending for him. Tired of enforced idleness, and for him herself, and was just about to sail when she received the cablegram announcing her husband's death.

"I didn't want Billy to go on the police force," Mrs. Clancey said today. "I asked him not to, because I knew it would be dangerous, especially after the strike. But he was determined to do it—freak from the way you know, and full of courage for new dangers. The very first letter I had from him after I returned to England told me that he had joined the force.

TO SEND BOY TO COLLEGE.

"Billy is just like him," she continued. The moment she began to speak of the little boy her face brightened. "He goes to school, you know, in England—or did until he became sick. When I told his teacher he would not be there much longer because he was going to America, she said she was sorry, as he was a very bright boy, but she added that he was naughty. I told her I knew that. He is very stubborn, and if he makes up his mind to do a thing, no one can stop him. He hasn't been spoiled, though."

Mrs. Clancey's home was at Bury, near Manchester. She was married in 1915. The day that Mrs. Clancey sailed for America on her present sail trip was February 18, her husband's birthday.

Her plans centre wholly around the boy. "I mean to live in or near Boston," she said, "and to bring Roy up to have a good education. It was his father's wish; he spoke of it more than once. I don't know yet what college he will go to, but he will certainly be a college man when he is old enough."

GIRL TESTIFIES FOR SAMMARCO

District Attorney Pelletier Says Confession Will Convict Alleged Slayer

marco of the murder of Patrolman William G. Clancey by his own confession. Our case will be short. There will be no circumstantial evidence here to confuse you."

In these words District Attorney Pelletier roughly sketched the case against Sammarco for the jury in Suffolk County Superior Court.

Mr. Pelletier declared that it was not the duty of the Commonwealth to show a motive. He said he would prove beyond any doubt that Clancey was slain in Roughan's Hall in Charlestown the night of January 22 because he tried to make a band of young men observe the house rules.

Sammarco listened unflinchingly to the merciless arraignment. His first sign of emotion followed the rumor that Mrs. Clancey, the slain officer's wife of the martyred patrolman, was in the courtroom. He recovered his assurance, however, when he learned that her entrance to the courtroom would be delayed.

The self-confessed slayer was accompanied by his sisters, Mrs. Theresa Tilsner and Mrs. Rose Longo, and his brother, Louis Sammarco, all of Cross street, East Boston.

ARCHITECT FIRST WITNESS.

Yesterday's record for speed was sustained today. No sooner had the jury returned from the inspection of Roughan's Hall, where the shooting was done, than the taking of evidence was begun.

John Mahoney, an architect, was the first witness called. Mahoney produced a map of the dance hall, with exits and entrances plainly marked. The document was received in evidence.

Dr. Francis W. Milwood of the Relief Hospital was the second witness. He testified that the dying policeman was admitted to the hospital at 1.34 the morning of January 23.

The leading witnesses for the prosecution were Captain Abalee C. Armstrong of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, Police Headquarters, and Captain Michael Goff of Station 15, to whom Sammarco made his confession.

Other witnesses will include Catherine Fallon, who attended the dance the night of January 22, and police officers of Charlestown.

Attorney Thomas J. Grady, appearing for Sammarco, has not yet outlined his defense. A number of young men and women who attended the dance were in the courtroom today, and may be called as witnesses.

The trip to Roughan's Hall was made in limousines. Bits of papers were spread about the floor to indicate the spot where the altercation began, and where the policeman fell.

Attorney Grady called the jurors' attention particularly to the large number of settees about the hall, with the evident purpose of indicating the size of the crowd in the hall when the shooting took place.

HEARD SHOT FIRED.

Marie Greene and Lillian Justice both testified they had been in the dance hall, but did not see the shooting. They admitted seeing Clancey, but could not recall having seen Sammarco.

Walter P. Doyle of No. 36 Elm street, Charlestown, said he was dancing with a girl in the balcony when he heard a shot. He ran out of the building, and did not learn the details of the shooting until the next day.

Under cross-examination by Attorney Grady he said a squad of officers entered the hall about 12.15, and seemed very excited. Two of the officers passed close to him in the balcony. One had a drawn revolver in his hand.

Q.—Did anyone attack the officers? A.—No.

MAYOR OF HOLYOKE MAY TURN PLUMBER

The high cost of being a Mayor may drive John F. Cronin of Holyoke back to the calling of a plumber. Since becoming Mayor there have been so many demands on his pocketbook that his salary of $3,000 cannot cover expenses. According to city officials, many bills which could legitimately be charged to contingent accounts are being paid by Mayor Cronin from his own salary.

WOMAN DIES AFTER FRANKLIN SHOOTING

Franklin, March 2.—Joseph Botto will be arraigned in the municipal court here today charged with the murder of his wife, Josephine, who died at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. Botto, the police allege, shot his wife after finding her in the company of Pasquale Busalis in the cellar of their home on Moore street.

UNDERWOOD FAVORS 2-CENT A MILE FARES

New York, March 2.—A return to the former two-cent a mile passenger rate and a readjustment of Pacific freight rates are urged by Frederick D. Underwood, president of the Erie railroad. These reductions with "more efficient service" were declared by Underwood today to be the most important considerations before the railroads under private ownership.

DEAN BLUMER OF YALE MEDICAL SCHOOL QUITS

New Haven, March 2.—George Blumer, dean of the Yale School of Medicine since 1910, has resigned. His resignation was accepted by the Yale Corporation and will take effect at the end of the academic year.

SUICIDE CUT OFF WIFE IN WILL

Major Lewis Leaves Most of His Estate to Mrs. Allan Pinkerton

New York, March 2.—Mrs. Franc Woodworth Pinkerton is named the residuary legatee of the estate of Major Birdseye Blakeman Lewis, who committed suicide in France, November 30, 1917.

Mrs. Pinkerton is the wife of Allan Pinkerton, head of Pinkerton's Detective Agency. The estate is valued at $250,000.

Major Lewis cut off his wife, who was Miss Charlotte Pearsall Thorne, daughter of Oakleigh Thorne, millionaire banker, without a cent. He left $10,000 each to his children, Oakleigh Thorne Lewis and Birdseye Blakeman Lewis, and $1,000 to his sister, Anna H. Vesey of Stowell House, Templecombe, England.

Major Lewis was a former polo player and all round sportsman. He was a member of the Millbrook Hunt Club, and once made a flight in an airplane from coast to coast. He was on General Pershing's staff in France. He was twenty-nine years old and was married to Miss Charlotte Pearsall Thorne June 27, 1908. He was a grandson of Blakeman Lewis, one of the organizers of the Merchants' Bank Company, now the American Bank Company.

Lewis in his will, dated November 13, 1916, said:

"I make no provision for my wife as she is about to sue me for absolute divorce."

Major Lewis explains that he did not leave his children a larger share of the estate "because I recognize the fact that they will be otherwise adequately provided for."

REPORT MACHINISTS IN SALEM WILL STRIKE

Salem, March 2.—Although the matter is still under discussion, rumors are persistent today that a strike in the plant of the United Shoe Machinery Company will be sanctioned. There are employed in the plant 4,200, of whom 4,200 are union members. Of this 4,200, when the vote was taken, 95 per cent. voted to strike. The result of the conference between the officials of the Machinists' union and the machinery company officials, held yesterday, has not yet been announced.

EX-SOLDIER WEDS HOSPITAL PHONE GIRL

Haverhill, March 2.—George H. Smith, a resident of this city and a former world war veteran, was married February 16 to Miss Cecilia E. Tuft of Wakefield, whom he met while a patient at the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. The couple will make their home in this city with Captain and Mrs. John D. Hardy.

Giacobbo was charged with illegal transportation of liquor. A visit to his home revealed, according to the police, 356 additional gallons of wine, and eight barrels.

Boston Pays 2 Police Heads $14,025

Boston has two superintendents of police, one of whom is drawing $7,025 per year, and the other $7,000. This is revealed in the latest police department payrolls, sent to the city auditor's office.

The nominal superintendent, Michael H. Crowley, is drawing the lesser salary. Former Superintendent William F. Pierce, who was called from retirement just before the policemen's strike, is getting the extra $25 as a "medal man" for heroism while in service.

The salary of the superintendent recently was increased by the Legislature from $5,500 to $7,000. The word "superintendent" not the plural "superintendents" appears in the act. It is said that authority is claimed by Commissioner Curtis under the pension fund act to account for paying the same salary to Pierce as is now paid to Crowley.

QUINCY DOCKS TEACHERS' PAY

Punish Those Unable to Reach School on Day of Big Storm

Quincy teachers who battled with storm and blizzard and eccentric service of trains and boats on February 5, the day of the great storm, and were unable to get to school, although they were hoping and trying to get there, have been docked by the city fathers of Quincy a day's pay.

The case of one teacher who lives in Haverhill and daily commutes to her school in Quincy, was mentioned. She has had an attendance record of 100 per cent. for five years. On the morning of the storm, got as far as Neponset, and there could go no further on the train and was taken in overnight by strangers, because service was so crippled that she could go neither to school nor to her home. This 100 per cent. teacher was one of those docked.

In addition, a notice has been served by the school committee of Quincy to the teachers that unless they can be more punctual in the morning, they had better make other arrangements.

VINDICATION IS SOUGHT BY WIFE

Insists on Trial of Divorce Case in Which Husband Named Six Men

New York, March 2.—Counsel for Mrs. Alma Clayburgh, prima donna, opposed a motion made before Justice Newburger by her husband, Albert Clayburgh, to discontinue his divorce case. Mr. Clayburgh, wealthy cotton manufacturer, named six co-respondents.

An affidavit, submitted by Edmund L. Mooney, her lawyer, said:

"I have, with my counsel, made every preparation for the trial.

"My desire was and is to have an opportunity to vindicate myself upon a trial, in open court, but it is apparently my husband's desire to frustrate me in that opportunity.

"He makes no retraction and he urges no excuse for his extraordinary conduct. He is apparently standing, or thinks he is standing, upon some legal right, or fancied legal right, to bring and withdraw such charges at his pleasure.

DENIES LEGION ASKS BONUS

Merely Wants Government to Assist Veterans, Says Franklin D'Olier

By International News Service.

Washington, March 2.—The American Legion asks for no bonus, wants no bonus, it merely asks the government to assist the ex-service men in overcoming some of the financial disadvantages incidental to his military service," Franklin D'Olier, national commander of the American Legion, today told the House Ways and Means Committee having charge of legislation to aid ex-service men.

"A bonus sounds too much like a gift or a present from the government," D'Olier continued.

Plans by which the service men could collect were outlined by D'Olier.

D'Olier said:

"The overwhelming majority of ex-service men feel strongly that this government owes an obligation to all persons who were handicapped either bodily or financially because of military or naval service during the recent war.

"The average man has been out of the service over a year and outside of the $60, which hardly bought him a civilian outfit, he has received no aid from his government in overcoming the handicap incidental to his service.

"In accordance with resolutions passed at the national convention of the American Legion, its national beneficial legislation committee is now ready to submit recommendation for legislation covering four features as follows:

"1—Land settlements covering farms in all States and not confined to a few States.

"2—Aid to encourage purchase in either country or city.

"3—Vocational training for all ex-service persons desiring it.

"4—Adjustment of compensation or final adjustment of extra back pay based on length of service for those not desiring to avail themselves of any one of the previous three features.

"The ex-service person to be given his option of any one and only one of the above four features, and only upon his application."

PLAINVILLE REVOKES ALL JITNEY LICENSES

Plainville, March 2.—By a vote of 125 to 24 last evening the town meeting instructed the Selectmen to revoke all jitney licenses and not to grant others until a vote is taken by the voters. The decision was reached after a bitter fight between the jitney drivers and the Plainville Railway, which has lasted over a year. Earl B. Thompson, William H. Nash and Edward Pink were elected Selectmen, the latter two being new men.

DEFER PROBE OF HOUSING FACILITIES

Because there was no way for the city to legally supply additional housing facilities in Boston, Mayor Peters has deferred the request of the City Council, made on June 23 last, to conduct an investigation of the subject matter. Mr. Peters so informed the Council, acting upon an order passed at the last session at which the Council requested information as to what the Mayor had done on the original order.

HARVARD BOOM FOR WOOD IS LAUNCHED

Harvard students launched their Wood-for-President boom at an organization meeting last night. About 100 men attended the meeting and elected Professor Joseph Warren of the Law School as president and George Barclay, a Law School student from New York, as secretary. Sleep Sickness Gives Poiret Daring Modes

Paris, March 2. — Attired in pajamas as startling as a D'Annunzio dream in Fiume, Paul Poiret, the creator of the most daring fashion innovations of the last twenty years, sat up, pinched his arm, rubbed his eyes, made a sound of amazed satisfaction, while wife, child, doctor, nurse and attendants crowded round.

The brilliant couturier was awakening from a ten-days' attack of the sleeping sickness which epidemic has been raging in Paris the past few weeks.

M. Poiret felt the first symptoms of of the disease at the end of January and tried to fight it off, but finally took to his bed.

"Although I could not move, open my eyes, or speak, I could hear and see what was going on," he said, "while my mind, impelled by some force stronger than my will, took me to action after vision of clothes, houses, automobiles—one stranger than the other.

"I realized the beauty of women dressed in skins like the Bacchantes of ancient Greece; I saw houses built like the hanging gardens of the Orient, automobiles gliding like serpents across fields and meadows by means of a series of joints, as grasshoppers and ants leap, while my nostrils were filled with perfumes of exotic and fantastic plants of Thibet and China.

"Altogether the sleeping sickness is a wonderful stimulant to the brain of an active man."

WARREN IS SENT TO HOSPITAL

Attorney, Who Surrendered to Police on Fraud Charges, at Boston Psycopathic

Attorney Joseph Franklin Warren, the Boston lawyer who surrendered to the police on charges of mulcting thousands of dollars from friends through fraudulent mortgages, is at the Boston Psychopathic Hospital.

Warren, it is said, was sent there last Sunday. His counsel said before his arrest that Warren was mentally unsound. It is believed he will be under observation while at the institution.

The police charge that Warren sold bogus mortgages. One of the complainants, Captain James E. Gerrish, said that Warren secured $2,500 from him through the sale of a mortgage which he claimed was properly executed and which later turned out to be a forgery.

Warren, in his defence, said he was made the victim of blackmail, forced one to whom he had tried to sell a mortgage.

According to investigators in the case, the scheme worked was to secure a mortgage on a piece of property of which Warren was trustee in his office. It is said, there were a number of cases in which the deed was made on a mortgage, evidently properly executed. Then it is said the mortgagee was taken and a forged assignment of it given by the attorney. With this instrument it is said Warren went to friends and several loans, offering the mortgage as collateral security for the loan.

Some four years ago Warren had a bad fall and sustained an injury to his head. A friend said that as a result of which he is not mentally sound.

Case Against East Boston Man of 71 Continued for Investigation

Morris Greenberg, seventy-one, and living in Porter street, East Boston, was charged with non-support of his wife Sarah in the East Boston Court today.

The case was continued until Thursday by Judge Barnes, who wished to inquire further into the unusual stories told by the aged defendant and plaintiff.

Today he was charged with having his store in the kitchen, and he resolved to marry. So he looked about for a wife, which would be his third venture in matrimony.

WANT TRAINING, SAYS PERSHING

Great Deal of Sentiment for Upbuilding Youth Is Found by the General

By International News Service.

Washington, March 2.—There is a great deal of sentiment throughout the country for universal training, General John J. Pershing said today, after completing a three months' trip that took him to every part of the country.

"Wherever I went I found that the people felt that the boys of the country ought to be trained in some way so that they would be ready if we ever went to war again," said General Pershing.

"The people seemed to realize the immense benefit the boys derived from the army training, not only from a physical standpoint, but also from the standpoint of self reliance and adaptability."

General Pershing said that some of the great war industries should be retained in some way. He referred particularly to the great concentration plant and said the government had a great asset.

"They should be preserved so far as economic conditions will warrant," he said.

American citizenship, General Pershing said, was sound to the core. "In some spots there is discontent and some revolutionary tendencies instigated for the most part by foreign agitators, but on the whole our American citizenship is sound. Whole communities are awakening to the danger of these agitators and are taking effective steps to wipe them out. Love of country is strong.

"I am not talking politics and, as a matter of fact, I did not discuss politics at any time during my trip around the country."

Buyer of $100,000 Irish Bonds Remains Mystery

The identity of the Mysterious Mr. Smith who contributed $100,000 to the Irish republic bond certificate drive in Boston must remain a secret, according to officials at headquarters of the campaign in the American House today. There has been much speculation in Irish circles as to the identity of the subscriber.

EXCHANGE PENIAN BONDS.

Today it was learned that the subscriber stipulated that his (or her) name was not to be divulged under any consideration—for the present, at least. It could not be learned whether the mysterious subscriber was a man or a woman.

Today was busiest at headquarters in the American House. There was a continuous line of men and women, old and young, waiting to purchase certificates. As on the previous days of the drive, many old-time bonds of the Fenian issue were exchanged for the new Irish Republic certificates and Liberty Loan and Victory Bonds were exchanged.

In several instances Irish bonds have been purchased in memory of men who died in the service of the United States in the great war. James D. Healey in Ward 22 purchased one $25 and one $10 bond, and on the back of one wrote:

"In memory of my son, Sergeant James D. Healey, who died in France fighting for liberty under the flag of his country."

James J. Egan, also in Ward 22, bought a bond in honor of his son who died in the service. On the back of the bond he wrote:

"In memory of my son, Edward Egan, pilot instructor, Langley Field, killed November 5, 1918."

Michael Leen, chairman of this ward, has completed his organization. Twenty-three workers, before starting out to canvass, purchased bonds aggregating $750. One subscription for $100 was received from Mrs. Thomas Loughney of Roslindale. "A Friend" subscribed for $75 worth of Irish Republic bonds. Eleight others took $25 bonds each, two persons took $10 each. A successful mass meeting was held in K. of C. Hall in Roslindale and there were numerous subscribers.

$20,000 RAISED IN LYNN.

More than $20,000 has been raised in Lynn, according to a report received from there today. Charles Cotter, a Lynn resident, subscribed $1,000. The quota for Lynn is $50,000, but indications are that this amount will be about doubled before the end of the week.

Subscriptions for $500 were received today from the John Mitchel Branch of the Clan-na-Gael.

Edward Carey of No. 28 Harvard street, Charlestown, reports increased activity there, with $8,000 subscribed and several thousands of dollars assured. Charlestown, according to Mr. Carey, will go well over $15,000.

There will be a bond rally held by Ward 14 officials in St. Alphonsus Hall, Smith street, Roxbury, tonight. Denis P. Reardon, war chairman will preside, and the speakers will include Edward F. M. McSweeney, Daniel T. O'Connell, who recently returned from Washington where he was in charge of the information bureau of the American Commission on Irish Independence, Judge Thomas Dowd and Judge Thomas P. Riley. Ward 14 workers announced the Rev. William E. Kenna, rector of the Mission Church, has postponed the church's golden jubilee drive in interest of the Irish bond certificate campaign.

Peter Kennedy of No. 10 Shepard avenue, known as the Irish giant in Roxbury, today purchased a $50 bond. Edward Shevlin of Roxbury subscribed $125 and six members of "The Finnegan Family" took $10 bonds each. Michael O'Rourke subscribed $50 and Miss B. Moriarty, Ocean View House, Palm Beach, sent a check for $50. Thomas Kirwin, another Roxburyite, subscribed $50.

Filene's

FRENCH HATS

—chosen personally in Paris by the Filene millinery buyer —and because of the rate of exchange priced much lower than usual.

Original hats from Germaine, Hermance, Lewis, Maria Guy, Alice and Nora, Mary and Annie, Marie Crozel, Louise Marsy, Madame Louison, Marguerite & Leonie, Leontine, Vasseline Vitteland, new house of Cora Marson.

In reproducing the hats, we have taken particular care to keep the SOFT French shapes and to enlarge the head sizes to fit American women.

Everyone who has seen them says the hats are lovely. They sound not one note of newness, but many.

The Queen of Spain goes shopping—

NOT long ago, on a January afternoon, the Queen of Spain dropped into the establishment of a leading Parisian milliner and ordered two hats.

Now, of course, a Queen is unlimited in her choice; she could have chosen anywhere in Europe; she had entree everywhere; price was of little consideration; and she is apt to have had the best advice obtainable.

It is significant that right upon the heels of the Spanish Queen came Miss L——, our millinery chief. And while the Queen's hats could not with propriety be duplicated in Madrid, Boston was a different question, and a copy of each hat was sold to us.

And while it is worthy of comment that Filene fashion succeeded in getting the same hats that the Queen chose, another phase of the incident is worthy of note.

For the Spanish money the Queen used did not go nearly as far as did the American dollars we used! For, due to the rate of exchange, we were enabled to buy for a fraction of the real value of the hats.

The rate of exchange is hard to understand, but the savings the present low rate makes possible are easy to understand.

And in the buying of French hats, and French clothes in general, the fine hand of Filene value is seen, taking advantage of the opportunities low exchange offers and doing the duty it constantly fulfills of presenting the newest fashions coupled with the lowest prices it can make possible!

The Sphinx influence

should be remembered in capital letters. What are its outstanding characteristics? Things over the ears, drooping pieces shaped right into the hats in the case of street hats. This covering of the ears is extremely becoming—particularly to youthful faces.

"Thatched" rather than woven straws

Here is an entirely new point. Twisted raffia, dyed flax, which is left dull or lacquered shiny—these are the means to the end.

Veils, Veils, Veils

On more than a fair share of the new French hats. In some cases the veil is a tiny edge of black Chantilly that reaches just to the eyes—in other cases a complete swirl of veil, as in the case of the hat sketched.

The French hats, on account of the "exchange," are today rarely good VALUES, in addition to being exceptional fashion news.

FRENCH KID GLOVES, $2.50

Similar to gloves sold by the thousand in our own stocks at $3.50 a pair last Fall

Kid gloves of this quality, if bought in the usual way, would cost us today 20% more than what we are selling them for.

10,000 pairs of new, imported French gloves, from probably the most famous importer in the country are something to brag about at $2.50 a pair. The immense quantity is one reason for the low price. Perfect gloves, not "seconds," in the three staple shades, black, white, black with white stitching. Every pair bears the name of one of the foremost glove importers in the country; we cannot mention it because the gloves are being sold under standard price.

CHICAGO OPERA HAS BRILLIANT AND SUCCESSFUL BOSTON OPENING

DANCE OF THE HOURS CHARMS IN WELL SUNG 'GIOCONDA'

By FRED J. McISAAC.

This prim and serious city can supply a brilliant spectacle on occasion, and the first performance of grand opera here in two years afforded the opportunity.

In the whole world there is no more beautiful theatre interior than the Boston Opera House, nor a building more suitable for operatic performances. The pity of it is that we have no opera company to tenant it. The Chicago opera, which has come for a fortnight only, was established after the inception of the Boston Opera company through the munificance of the late Eben Jordan. Chicago opera has survived and ours has perished.

MELODIES CHARMING.

By an odd coincidence "Gioconda," which was performed last night, was chosen to open the Boston Opera House a decade ago. Ponchielli's masterpiece is admirably suited for an opening night, for its scenes are many and spectacular, its ballet, "The Dance of the Hours," loveliest of any, and its melodies straightforward and charming.

Lillian Nordica, then in her declining days, sang the title role at the first performance of the Boston Opera company. Constantine sang the tenor part. Both are dead.

Ponchielli wrote several operas, but "Gioconda," produced in 1876, is the only one which is ever done nowadays. He was the teacher of Puccini, the greatest living Italian composer.

Like all Italian operas of the period, it was composed to a particularly dolorous libretto, based upon a play by Victor Hugo called "Angelo, Tyrant of Padua." The scene was transferred to Venice for better scenic opportunities.

Gioconda is a Venetian street singer, who loves Enzo, a sailor-prince, who is pursued by Barnaba, one of the spies of the Venetian government. Barnaba denounces Enzo through the medium of the Lion's Mouth, a device by which anybody in Venice could anonymously accuse anybody else of almost anything.

"DANCE OF HOURS" BEAUTIFUL.

To secure the release of her lover Gioconda agrees to give herself to Barnaba. Enzo, however, loves Laura, the wife of the Venetian prince, and when Gioconda discovers this she generously contrives the escape of both through the assistance of Barnaba. Then, to escape the spy and her promise, she kills herself.

The scene is in the House of Gold where the Prince entertains his guests with the ballet, "The Dance of the Hours," is one of the most effective in all opera. The ship scene in which Enzo sings the famous "Ciel e Mare" air is also striking, as is the public square in Venice, where many exciting incidents occur. There is not a dull moment in "Gioconda," whether you are so musical that you prefer modern orchestration to the uproar of "Gioconda" or whether you just like a good tune.

The role of Gioconda last night was sung by Rosa Raisa, the rising star of dramatic sopranos. During the engagement of the Chicago Opera in New York, which has just been completed, some of the critics called her the greatest dramatic soprano of all time, and some of them complained most bitterly of her singing.

She is a striking looking woman, a Polish Jewess, I believe, with a natural gift for drama in her gestures and expression. Her voice might justify those who proclaim her greatness, for it is a wonderful organ of astonishing power in the upper altitudes.

RAISA'S TONES IMPERFECT.

Raisa's control over her tones is very imperfect, and their breadth is uneven. In trying for stunning forces she frequently drives her tones off the pitch and the result is not pleasant to anybody with a good ear.

Dolci, the dramatic tenor of the Chicago company, gave an excellent performance as Enzo. The role is a foolish one and to make it dramatic would be almost impossible. Dolci is content to walk through it singing sweetly and effectively.

Barnaba is one of the big baritone parts of opera. There are several fine arias for him and his interpretation gives an opportunity to a good actor. Rimini is a big fellow whose voice is fair but whose musicianship is slight. He does not belong in a first class opera company.

Cyrena Van Gordon, the American contralto, sang Laura. Hers is a very lovely voice and she secured big tone without any apparent effort. Maria Claessens, who, if I remember correctly, sang "La Cieca" at the Boston Opera performance mentioned above, sang it last night and gave a very satisfactory performance.

There are a number of criticisms which might be made of chorus and orchestra, but it is rather ungracious to welcome the visitors with a hammer, and the lineup of soloists last night was far from the best that Chicago will offer.

BALLET WELL MANAGED.

It is possible to praise without stint the ballet, "The Dance of the Hours." The Chicago ballet is pretty, numerous and able to dance. It is well managed and the ideas expressed in the dance were admirable.

A great deal might be written of the vicissitudes of those who were determined to attend the opera last night in their automobiles, no matter how rough the travelling might be. Most of them were late and the management kept all the late comers in the lobby until the end of the first act, which lasted forty minutes.

Cyrena Van Gordon, whose sweet voice charmed in "Gioconda" at the Boston Opera House.

Enrol Now for Either of These Classes:

Class A—Sewing, Dressmaking and Tailoring—Commencing Wednesday, March 3
Class B—Analytical Dressmaking—Commencing Thursday, March 4

Outline of Class A

Cutting, Fitting, Constructing and Finishing Women's and Children's Garments and Plain Sewing

Important Note: Each garment will be made up of muslin or some inexpensive material before cutting into the material out of which the garment is to be made. This gives the pupil an opportunity to test her ability in pattern alteration, scientific fitting, etc., and to have her work inspected and criticised and receive any individual attention or assistance necessary.

Outline of Class B

Garment Planning, Model Making, Figure Fitting, Cutting, Garment Draping, Garment Guide, Preparation of the Dress Form, and Studies in Lines and Color.

NOTE CAREFULLY: In this class pupils will study garment planning and dressmaking from the standpoint of individual requirements, instead of studying it from the structural standpoint, as taught in Class A. Since such construction work as seams, hems, facings, plackets, etc., are not taught in Class B, it is desirable that a pupil entering this class shall have an understanding of the simpler elements of garment construction, unless she is also planning to take the work of Class A. The work of Class A is not repeated in Class B.

BEST WAY TO WASH THE HAIR

We find you can bring out the beauty of your hair to its very best advantage by washing it with canthrox. It makes a very simple, inexpensive shampoo, which cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all the dandruff, dirt and excess oil, leaving a wonderfully clean, wholesome feeling. After its use you will find that the hair dries quickly and evenly, is never streaked in appearance and is always bright, soft and fluffy; so fluffy, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. Just use a teaspoonful of canthrox, which you can get from any good druggist's, dissolve it in a cup of hot water; this makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head.—Advertisement.

ELSIE JANIS' BIG HIT AT TREMONT

Elsie Janis "And Her Gang," as the program has it, opened a two weeks' stay at the Tremont Theatre last evening in what is described as a "bomb proof revue." It may have been bomb proof; it certainly was not laughter proof, as appreciation of an audience that crowded the theatre to its last seat, in its uppermost gallery, gave merry evidence.

The offering had no plot and pretended to have none. It was an ensemble of pictures, humorous, now a little touching, even to a lone tear or two, of the life of just the ordinary buck private of the A. E. F. in France. "All he did over there was to kick and fight," Miss Janis explained at the very beginning.

He does a little of both in the play. And, all through the piece, delightful Elsie Janis, warmly welcomed back to Boston, from which she has been absent many seasons, poured into each scene her bubbling magnetism, her dancing, her singing, her jokes and—towards the last—her poetry. This was a small offering, dedicated to the vet.

Among many musical numbers acclaimed by the audience, perhaps that of the Latin Quarter, "It's My Temperament," "I Love Them All Just a Little Bit" and "Just a Little Touch of Paris" were favorites as much appreciated as any.

The supporting company, or the "gang," were keen with jazz and enthusiasm. Charlie Lawrence, as the soubrette, was delicious, and never too broad, as some of his kind have sometimes been; Jack Brant, as the M. P., the "hero of the battle of Paris," was a delightful satire on what the civilian mind imagines an M. P. to have been; the hard-boiled Yank, Dick Ryan, was an amusing grouch.

Bob Lawer, as the colored doughboy, brought many laughs; it were impossible to name all those who gave much pleasure to an appreciative audience.

This was comedy, of the light sketch, galore. It was more than that, when "Miss Janis Herself" as the program had it, recited her bit of a poem to the great sacrifice and comradeship and fatherliness of the greatest war that has ever been. Below the laughter was reverence for those who have seen the joy and the tears and the agony. Of these was Miss Janis. And that is why her present offering, light and joyous as it is, will be remembered after all its merry jokes and dances have been forgotten.

MALDEN AUDITORIUM—"The Woman in Room 13" offers dramatic situations unlike any drama which has been produced on the American stage, and grips the attention of the entire audience. "The Woman in Room 13" was played by the Temple Stock Company at the Malden Auditorium in a manner that very noticeably touched the audiences of yesterday by surprise.

FRANKLIN PARK THEATRE—Dainty little Mary Pickford proved that she is still the supreme favorite of the screen stars when she packed the Franklin Park Theatre at all performances with "Daddy Long Legs."

HORNINGS CENTRAL SQUARE—A Screen Classics, Inc., all-star special photoplay, "Should a Woman Tell?" was shown at Gordon's Cambridge Central Square Theatre last night. As the title implies, the picture is a dramatic depiction of a struggle within a woman's heart. There was also an all-star vaudeville bill.

SUES FOR $3,000 DAMAGES IN THEATRE ACCIDENT

William F. Savage of Hudson has been sued for $3,000 by Cora Wilkins of Hudson. She alleges that on October 25, 1919, while in the Hudson Opera House, which is owned or controlled by the defendant, she was injured when she fell in one of the aisles, which, she claims, was not properly lighted.

HOPKINTON'S "WAR" TEACHER BACK ON JOB

Hopkinton, March 2.—Miss Ellen M. Her return was effected by an agreement of the school committeemen.

MELROSE REFUSES RAISE TO VETERAN FIRE CHIEF

MRS. BIRD REFUSES G. O. P. CHAIRMANSHIP

Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, vice-president of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, and who has been considering the chairmanship of the women's committee of the Republican State Committee, announces that she has decided not to serve in the latter office.

LABOR FINDS PRICES RAISED NEARLY DOUBLE

The retail prices of 23 articles of food show an increase of 93 per cent. at the close of 1919, as compared with 1913, the last year before the war, when prices were normal, according to statements made in the Monthly Labor Review, just issued by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"Chu Chin Chow"

March 15 will bring to the Boston Opera House Comedy Company Gatti's new production of "Chu Chin Chow," the big Oriental extravaganza. This new edition of this world-famous musical hit is on the same lavish scale which characterized Oscar Ashe's original London production.

Other Theatres

"Bab," at the Hollis, with Helen Hayes. Unusual and charming.

"The Royal Vagabond," Colonial, a merry Cohanized comic opera.

"39 East," Wilbur, a sweet and simple comedy of character.

"Honey Girl," Park Square, "Checkers," set to music. Lively dancing show.

"The Girl in the Limousine," Plymouth, a rough but hilarious farce.

"The Outrageous Mrs. Palmer," Arlington. A clever and unusual play, with Mary Young.

"Huck Finn," Park Theatre. Sim dramatization of Mark Twain's book for boys.

"FOLLIES" AT SHUBERT A DELIGHT

With a bizarre background of striking lights and colors, with bright, snappy music and with a variety of startlingly effective costumes and agile dancing features, "The Greenwich Village Follies" opened an auspicious "first night" before a most enthusiastic audience at the Shubert Theatre. Stars were not lacking to complete the success by the performance; the special acts of the ever-popular little Frances White, and the jovial jazz of Ted Lewis and his happy following, brought insistent encores.

Another feature specially noteworthy was the agile and weird dance number of Ada Forman in her Japanese act.

An atmosphere grotesque, yet quite in harmony with the artistic sensibilities of the villagers, was expressed in the unusual scenery, and in the amazing gowns of the habitues of the Latin Quarter. James Watts, the "lady" in a succession of wild pseudo-classic dances and acrobatic opera stunts, furnished much humor, and was recalled several times.

Frances White, very charming and infectious in her "kid" numbers, sang several new song numbers, and repeated the "Mississippi" that made her famous in her former show several years ago. Her ingenuous childishness, whether expressed in overalls and romper or in the captivating "baby vamp" costume of the last act, brought insistent response from the audience. Ted Lewis, in a series of songs and jazz dances, assisted by a lively orchestra, was also enthusiastically welcomed.

OPERA STAR IS HEARD AT KEITH'S

Marguerita Sylva, world famous light and grand opera star, heads an exceptionally good novelty bill at Keith's this week. The usual packed audience gave the song queen a warm ovation and generous applause for her repertoire of exclusive songs. The creator of the operatic role of Salome for Strauss, the composer of that resplendent opera, was never in better voice than in her operatic selections. Very rightfully she has been referred to as "the phenomenon of the American stage."

Amelia Stone and Armand Kalis, two great favorites in vaudeville, this time make a bigger hit than ever in "A Song Romance," by Edgar Allan Woolff and Mr. Kalis. It is a beautifully costumed act. Fox and Cunningham, also old favorites, "get over" with many laughs in a happy-go-lucky novelty act. Menlo Moore and Macklin Megley present "Once Upon a Time," with Jack Princeton, Leon Leonard and cast. Krance and Boyle are another pair of merry-makers. Dorothy Brenner, the lady dancer of songland, is heard in new songs.

There is also "Tony, the Violinist," the Wheeler Trio, the Aerial Lloyds to complete an excellent bill and usual kinograms and topics of the day.

Majestic Theatre

Theda Bara, whose brunette charms and whose dark and dangerous orbs are responsible for the vogue of the modern film vampire, was shown in the flesh last night to an audience which packed the Majestic to the doors and would have filled the theatre three times over if the thing were possible.

The play was entitled "The Blue Flame," and dealt with a girl who died, was restored to life by a mysterious process but came back without her soul. The piece will be reviewed in detail in Wednesday's American.

Why Women Grow Old More Quickly Than Men

Greater Percentage of Anaemia—Lack of Iron in the Blood—Among Women Makes Them Lose Much of Their Youth, Beauty and Former Attractiveness, And Become Fretful, Nervous and Run-Down—

What Women Need Is Not Cosmetics or Stimulating Drugs But Plenty of Pure Red Blood, Rich in Iron

Physician Explains How Organic Iron—Nuxated Iron—Enriches the Blood, Strengthens the Nerves, Builds Up Physical Power and Often Makes Weak, Pale, Careworn Women Look and Feel Years Younger.

Look for the woman who appears younger than a man of the same age, and you will find the exception to that vast majority upon whom anaemia—lack of iron in the blood—has fastened its grip and is gradually sapping the health, vitality and beauty which every woman so longs to retain. In most cases men safeguard their health better than women by eating coarser foods, being more out-of-doors and leading more active lives, thereby keeping their blood richer in iron and their bodies in better physical condition. The very moment a woman allows herself to become weak, nervous and run-down she is placing a heavy burden upon her whole system which overtaxes the power of the blood to renew wasted tissue and keep active the natural life forces of the body. There are thousands of women who are ageing and breaking down at a time when they should be enjoying that perfect bodily health which comes from plenty of iron in the blood, simply because they are not awake to their condition. For want of iron a woman may look and feel haggard and all run-down—while at 50 or 60 with good health and plenty of iron in her blood she may still be young in feeling and so full of life and attractiveness as to defy detection of her real age. But a woman cannot have beautiful rosy cheeks or an abundance of strength and endurance without iron, and physicians below have been asked to explain why they prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to help supply this deficiency and aid in building a race of stronger, healthier women.

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly and irritable, suffers from iron deficiency physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor and does not know it. I am convinced Dept.), New York, and the Westchester that there are thousands of such women County Hospital says: "Many a woman who, simply by taking Nuxated Iron, might who is run-down, easily tired out, surprise quickly build up their not, organism, in a short time to such a degree of physical energy, and red that they will hardly recognize themselves. Nuxated Iron is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee every package sold in this city to give entire satisfaction or your money will be refunded. It is obtained in tablet form from any druggist and all other

Dr. Sullivan recommended Nuxated Iron to a condition to ward off the millions of disease germs that are almost constantly around us. I consider Nuxated Iron one of the foremost blood and body builders—the best to which I have ever had recourse."

Among other physicians asked for an opinion was Dr. George H. Baker, formerly Physician and Surgeon in charge of Out-Door Department of Bellevue Hospital, New York, who says: "What women need to put roses in their cheeks and the sparkling eyes of life into their step is not cosmetics or stimulating drugs but plenty of rich pure blood. Without it no woman can do credit to herself or to her work. To get the most from the greatest of all strength and blood builders, and I have found no thing in my experience so effective for helping to make strong, healthy, red-blooded women as Nuxated Iron."

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: Nuxated Iron which is prescribed and recommended here by physicians is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee every package sold in this city to give entire satisfaction or your money will be refunded. It is obtained in tablet form from any druggist and all other druggists.

MANY BAY STATE TOWNS GO 'WET'

Shift of Sentiment in Communities That Have Voted 'Dry' for Many Years

Election returns from thirty-five Massachusetts towns unanimously reveal the unpopularity of prohibition by large majorities in favor of the late John Barleycorn.

Many dignified communities joined the wet column for the first time as a protest against the perpetual drought.

Lexington voted "wet" for the first time in forty years. Dedham did likewise, changing from the dry column for the first time in twenty-three years. Wakefield deserted the "wets" and the "dry" lead in Reading was cut from 418 of last year to forty.

For the first time in the history of Rockport, Lincoln and Mansfield the question of license received a majority of votes. Rockport, where in the '80's women fought "demon rum" with hatchets and smashed kegs after raiding stores, and which was considered the rock-ribbed stronghold of the "drys," voted for license.

In Worcester County twenty-five towns turned a net gain of 2160 for license. In the western part of the state the towns of Rowe, Southampton, Chesterfield, Plainfield and Williamsburg switched from "dry" to license.

Late returns received show the following vote in many of the 67 towns where elections were held:

Quinn in Bitter Battle For Brookline Selectmen

Brookline rose en masse today to descend on the polls in the annual town election and chief among all the items of interest is that of whether or not the classic town shall be "wet" or "dry." Not in years has there been so much interest on the local question.

James F. Quinn, candidate for selectman on nomination papers, declared today that he felt confident of being seated despite the fact that a rather solid opposition confronts him. Mr. Quinn was a selectman several years ago but was defeated for re-election.

James V. Duffy, well known in insurance and banking circles, is fighting for town auditor. Chester T. Burr, whom he defeated in the caucus, is a candidate against him on nomination papers. Mr. Duffy's supporters are confident of success.

NASHUA SISTERS, AGED 3 AND 4, BURN TO DEATH

Nashua, N. H., March 2.—Ann and Julia Busmiewski, aged four and three years, respectively, lost their lives in a fire which destroyed part of the three-story tenement structure at No. 52 Factory street. The mother of the sisters was working in a cotton mill, and their father, William Busmiewski, was absent from the house, buying groceries, when the fire occurred.

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

On Life Beyond the Grave

Letters of Poetess Reveal "Communications From the Spirit World"

(The following hitherto unpublished letters from America's greatest poetess to her favorite brother, Marcus P. Wheeler, Windsor, Wis., a Civil War veteran, constitute a remarkable human document. At one and the same time they set forth what she believed her certain knowledge of the life hereafter, based upon communications from her husband, Robert M. Wilcox, who died in 1916, and also very interesting sidelights on the daily life and views of this writer whose name is known to everyone who reads. These letters will be printed in daily instalments.)

Somewhere in France, April 22, 1918.

Dear Sister Sarah:

This is your birthday. I hope you have better weather than we. It is so cold and rainy. I have taken out my Winter coat and muff. We have been in this place, two hundred miles southwest of Paris, for three weeks and five days, and have only had five days of real sunshine. I think the continual cannonading at the front brings the rain down. I believe that is a fact that explains why we always used to have rain before midnight, as a rule, on Fourth of July.

We had three weeks of bombardment and air raids in Paris and then came here. We were doing interesting work with interesting people in Paris, for the war, and hated to leave. But here we also find things to do. An American hospital here has many wounded men and we visit them and write letters for them; and we also go to the canteens and help serve food to the soldiers. I have found much to write about and have written a lot of poems and several prose articles, which you will probably see.

TREMENDOUS EXPERIENCE.

It is a tremendous experience to be here at this great and awful era of the world's history. I am glad I came. No matter if I never see America again, I shall be glad to the last that I came. I cannot imagine what I could be doing in America now to find distraction. I could not be happy there, and here I have the excitement of being in the heart of things, and of being some help and of gathering great material for future work.

I have met such very interesting people, and had wonderful experiences. My knowledge of the French language makes everything easy for me. Mrs. Randall, who is with me, is very helpful in a hundred ways, and she is so glad to be away from America where her own home was broken up.

We both feel that sudden death would be a greater happiness for us than long life, and we both feel that destiny has our time of going from earth down in Fate's book, or rather the Book of Karma, and that we stand no more chance of death here than at home. We both believe also that we will return safely to America next Summer as we planned or early in September. I mean to go by August 15. I think the war so far as the fighting goes will be over this Spring, but it will take a very long time to end all the complications after that.

ROBERT PLANNING.

I am conscious that Robert is planning everything for me. Very wonderful messages have come from him here. It was he who sent me commands to leave. I had not thought of doing so. Now he tells me to go about to many places here and get many new ideas and to write poems about France.

And about Life Eternal, he says he is near and working for me all the time. It was he who told me to come to France. I find every intelligence opens here wide-awake on this subject of communication with our dead and all are more eager for any information I can give.

You must understand I have not received any of my messages through mediums. All have come through myself and three friends in private life in America, and here two beautiful women have had the power to help me—one the wife of one of the high masters of the Navy, and the other a high-born, cultured French lady here who lost her only son in the war, and now receives messages from him. She is a Theosophist, like myself, and does not approve of seeking mediums for every trivial thing, but approves of the Psychical Research efforts to establish the FACTS of life beyond the grave. That is the only solace to the hearts so torn with this awful war. The old religious ideas of heaven give no comfort.

With love to you and Ella,

Your sister,

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

Address: Care Major Humphris, 3 West Chapel St., Mayfair, London, Eng. I expect to be there about May fifteenth.

READING BIBLE ELECTION ISSUE

Suspension of Catholic Students in Brandon, Vt., May Be Settled by Voters

Brandon, Vt., March 2.—Bible reading in the Brandon High School was made an issue in the town election today, following the suspension of thirty-five Catholic students who refused to attend chapel, where reading of the Scriptures was part of the exercises.

The pupils were suspended by Principal R. H. Walker as the climax of a bitter feud which has been raging here for weeks.

The fight is being watched by the entire State, as similar dissensions have cropped out elsewhere. It is understood that Rev. Fr. Gray, the local Catholic priest, will take the matter to the courts, and that Bishop Rice of Burlington intends to make this a test case to decide the legality of Bible reading in public schools.

The trouble here started weeks ago, when Principal Walker reduced the school standing of a Catholic girl student for not attending Bible reading. The next day the Catholic students stayed away in a body. Principal Walker resigned, and the following day 100 Protestant students went on strike for his reinstatement.

The matter was apparently ended with a compromise when it was decided that Bible reading would continue, but that Catholic students would be excused at the request of their parents.

Later the parents of Catholic students maintained that they were discriminated against, and declined to furnish written excuses asking that their sons and daughters should not be compelled to attend chapel and Bible reading.

JAIL MAN WHO ROBBED WOMEN IN ARLINGTON

Carleton R. Markham, who in 1917 figured in three sensational holdups in Arlington, is again in the toils. Brought back from Columbus, Ohio, by the Boston police, he was rearrested, on a capias secured by District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts of Middlesex County. Markham, when last seen, was wearing an army uniform. Three women were his victims. Because of his youth and the fact that he was a service man, he was given a two year sentence in the House of Correction at East Cambridge.

INSTRUCT TELEPHONE WORKERS IN FIRST AID

Dover, N. H., March 2.—Several hundred employees of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company from this city, Portsmouth, Exeter, Somersworth and Rochester met here today to receive first aid instruction from Dr. Bullock of Manchester. This was the first meeting in three years, owing to the war.

DON'T SMILE AT DAN CUPID, SAYS RECTOR

Rev. Harry Beal, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, New Bedford, cautioned old people not to smile when they see young people going for a marriage license. He made an address today at St. Paul's Cathedral. Rector Beal said many people in growing old outlived their love, which he considered a great mistake. "True love is never blind," he said.

For the Little Ones

To Keep Their Digestion Perfect Nothing Is So Safe and Pleasant as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

An experienced observer in charge of a large office said it was a waste of words to tell most people to eat plain food. They prefer the food that delights the eye. Checking up on the after effects the usual discomfort of gassiness, sour risings, water brash, dizziness and so on may be avoided by following the meal with one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. These supply the stomach with an alkaline effect (the normal condition) and aid in health. This puts the O. K. on so-called rich food. Men and women are but children of a larger growth when it comes to eating fine foods that satisfy, even though they may cause indigestion.

Indigestion is not necessarily confined to those who live high. It may follow so simple a process as the flavor of a bay leaf, thyme, garlic, sage or any of the other savory flavorings so universally used in soups, roasts, dressings, etc. As a rule if the stomach balks at such things, if will be disturbed by cheese, milk, coffee, pies and almost anything that most people relish well. Such conditions as these are quite adequately by following the meal with one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They digest food and at the same time supply the stomach with an alkaline effect that prevents gassiness, heartburn, sour risings, drowsiness after eating and such distresses as familiar to those susceptible to indigestion or dyspepsia. Get a box of these tablets at any drug store in the United States or Canada, price 50 cents, and then note how comfortable the stomach feels. Your most excellent cook may use garlic without a protest.

DEPOSITORS TO GET $280,000

Supreme Court Holds Estate of Bank President for Coleman's Thefts

The estate of the late Edwin Dresser, former president of the National City Bank of Cambridge, is held responsible for the stealings of George W. Coleman, in an important decision rendered by the United States Supreme Court.

This decision, establishing a President by holding directors for the thefts of employes, sustained a judgment of the United States District Court giving the receiver $280,000.

John L. Bates, the receiver, stated that the estate of Mr. Dresser amounted to about $1,500,000, so that there will be more than sufficient to pay the full amount of the judgment. This will mean, according to Mr. Bates, that all the depositors will be paid in full, and there will probably be enough left to return to the stockholders a considerable percentage of the assessment which they paid at the time of the failure of the bank.

The case has been fought through the courts for nearly ten years by Mr. Bates. He first brought suit against the directors before Judge Robert O. Harris of Boston as master. Mr. Bates charged the directors with negligence, which resulted in the loss to the bank of more than $300,000 through the stealings of Coleman.

Judge Harris refused to hold any of the directors liable, but Judge Bingham of the United States District Court overruled his report. The decision appealed to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which held President Dresser responsible for more than $264,000, but relieved the other directors.

The case was then appealed to the Supreme Court by the Dresser estate and also by the receiver, the latter claiming that he was entitled to interest on the judgment of $264,000 from the time of the judgment of the District Court. This amount the Circuit Court had refused to allow.

COLORED MINISTER OBJECTS TO "DARKIES"

Rev. Walter D. McClane, rector of St. Bartholomew's Church, Cambridge, a colored minister, objects to having his race referred to as "darkies." "One of my congregation went to St. Paul's Cathedral and heard a bishop of the Episcopal church tell a story in which he used 'darkey,'" said Mr. McClane. "Then another said 'there was a nigger in the wood pile.' You can't break race prejudice by using such terms."

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips of No. 33 Kilgore avenue, West Medford. He was a 10-pound boy, born at the Winchester Hospital, and his name is Robert Francis Phillips. Mrs. Phillips was formerly Peggy Devenney, a popular and beautiful model for a Boston gown house.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfils almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Boston American. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

NEW MAGAZINE WARNS ON HAMPERING RAILROADS

"If we hamper the railroads we cut the throat of America," according to H. Craig Dare, who as asserts in the Transportation World for March, a new monthly of which Mr. Dare is editor. Mr. Dare points out very rightly that only through the efficiency of the railroads can America keep industry, commerce and agriculture moving, and says that the sooner the roads are freed from jurisdiction, the quicker will the American people profit by the efficiency of their operation. There are several interesting articles on transportation in the new magazine, and considerable space is devoted to automobile shipments. Within sixty-six pages are articles by Guy E. Tripp, F. A. Adams, United States Senator Edge, George B. Hunt, F. W. Penn, J. G. Hartley and others. The new periodical is published in New York.

THREE IN FAMILY SUE AFTER ACCIDENT

In Middlesex County, James Morrison of Boston was sued by three members of the Anno family of Ayer as the result of an auto collision on Commonwealth avenue. Joseph C. Anno sued for $10,000, Matthew L. and John Anno for $2,000 each.

George P. McCarthy has sued Walter Sweet of Cambridge for $10,000, claiming that he was struck by an auto.

Rebecca R. Pettis of Brookline has sued Henry A. Steeves of Somerville for $5,000 as the result of an auto collision.

Beatrice Griffin has sued the City of Cambridge for $3,000 for injuries which she claims resulted from a defective sidewalk.

Mary Kronstrand of Waltham has sued Hugh J. Robertson, Jr., of Newton, for $500, the woman claiming that she was bitten by Robertson's dog.

MOTHER OF SIX IS CONVICTED IN CHELSEA

Boys have been gambling at a game they call "lotta" at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Berenson on Pearl street, Chelsea, according to testimony given at the trial before Judge Stearns today of Mrs. Berenson on the charge of having bought stolen goods. A week ago two boys were charged with stealing shoes at the A. G. Walton Shoe Company, where they worked. They declared that they had been urged to steal a pair of shoes for Mrs. Berenson. Mrs. Berenson was found guilty. She is the mother of six children. Judge Stearns suspended a six months' sentence.

YOUNG WOMEN MAY TRAIN AS WARRIORS

Whether young women shall receive physical training along military lines was discussed today at army headquarters by Colonel Louis C. Scherer. A company of women may be formed for military training at some camp or post this Summer. The plan of giving will be discussed by officers before a final report is made.

Eyesight Dim?

If your eyesight is dim, your vision blurred; if your eyes ache, itch, burn or feel dry, get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets from your druggist, dissolve one in a fourth of a glass of water and use to bathe the eyes from two to four times a day. Bon-Opto has given stronger eyes, clearer, sharper vision and relief to thousands.

Note: Doctors say Bon-Opto strengthens weak eyes 50% in a week's time in many instances.

It's an American trait to try

The American people are the fairest traders in the world. They will give anything a fair trial. And in this manner, many of the products of today have been built to greatness.

This trait settles all doubts. The people often discover articles of merit. They likewise discover the imitations. The merchant who has something worth while, profits by it. The other chap doesn't.

When they have made the trial, they know. And they can't really know until they do. That's why we ask you to try LORD SALISBURY. We know what a superior cigarette it is, but you don't unless you have tried it. And you won't know until you do.

A great many people have tried LORD SALISBURY Cigarettes, with the satisfying result that the sales of 1919 increased 25% over the sales of 1918.

LORD SALISBURY is packed in an inexpensive machine-made paper package instead of a cardboard box. YOU CAN'T SMOKE THE BOX. WHY BUY IT?

RED SOX PLAYERS NOT OVERCONFIDENT AS TRAINING SEASON STARTS

NO TALK OF PENNANTS IS HEARD

Players Realize That Departure of Babe Ruth Is Likely to Prove Costly

By JACK CONWAY.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 2.—Without the assistance of a band or a flag raising, the Red Sox today opened their 1920 baseball campaign. The veteran players in the squad who have enjoyed the pleasure of cutting up a world's series melon in bygone years feel much like the Alabama lawyer who was called upon to defend a negro charged with a serious crime.

Asked by a friend what chance he had of winning his case, the lawyer looked in the direction of the bench, where a Southern judge of the old school presided, and said: "I'll do my best to save my client from going to jail, but I don't care to make any predictions."

Last year at this time the Red Sox players, fresh from their triumph in the 1918 World's Series, were asking each other whether they would come through again. The writer has not heard any talk of pennants so far on this trip. The players realize they will get away from the barrier in a weakened condition and that they will be entitled to great credit if they can squeeze into the first division.

At this writing, however, it looks as though there are four teams which are stronger than the Harrow entry.

Red Sox Get Down to Business

Regardless of the lack of pennant talk the boys got down to business today with a vim. The veterans on the squad were glad to be back at the Springs once more. They have great faith in the magic of the baths here. May it be chronicled that the social lights among the war correspondents prefer Tampa with its lively life and palm trees.

Pat Flaherty, whom we discovered walked and talked like Babe Ruth, is among the most enthusiastic of the Borrow tourists. He's up in the big show to stay this time.

Tremont street will not be new to Pat.

He pitched for Dean Academy back in 1914, and made such a good showing that Bill Carrigan wanted him to workout with the Red Sox. The youngster, however, never reported, and instead shifted his affection to the Senators. This was only natural, as Flaherty's home is in Washington.

With Senators Before War

Flaherty was with the Senators when Uncle Sam declared war, and being a pitcher, Pat naturally entered the aviation service. He gained considerable fame as a flier. He also narrowly escaped death twice. On one occasion Flaherty's plane turned over after landing on soft ground and at another time a plane hit the one in which the pitcher was flying some 150 feet in the air. They came to the ground together and Flaherty was badly hurt.

The Washington boy pitched for the Baltimore Orioles team in the Shipyard League last season. He is six feet, one and half inches tall and weighs 210 pounds. He has not any objection to becoming a second Babe Ruth if fate so wills. He is a right hander; as Ruth is left-handed, maybe Flaherty is Babe's baseball twin.

It is too early to be optimistic in the Spring or before a boxing bout. So let's put a little hop on Flaherty merely on his appearances in a hotel lobby.

Manager Barrow will taste his troubles in selecting a regular lineup. Scott at short and Molonis at first are fixed certainties.

Second Base a Big Problem Now

Second base is a problem. Just when it was beginning to look as though Maurice Shannon was going to become a star at this position he was let out to Washington. It was planned to use Eddie Foster at the keystone sack. Foster started recently that he can't play second base, which leaves the field close to Mike McNally, a brilliant fielder and great base runner, but a poor hitter. Mike is the logical choice for third base, with Foster a possibility.

Harry Hooper is the only outfielder fixture. A wealth of material will be tried out for the other two places. The Sox outfield of last week in 1919, even with Ruth on the job. With the batterer gone, the outlook is none too good.

We'll have more to say later about the pitching staff. Suffice it to say there are no Babe Ruths among the Red Sox, they have given grass and sunshine here, and the concentrated service and snow drifts were getting weight monotonous when we departed for this man's land.

COACH VOLK PUTS TUFTS BASEBALL MEN TO WORK

Coach Wallie Volk pried off the baseball lid at Tufts College today by putting more than 20 candidates through a stiff limbering up in the Goddard cage.

ALL-STARS WIN ROUGH GAME

Fist Fights Enliven Hockey Battle at Pavilion; Final Score Stands 4 to 1

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

A merry slashing bee, interspersed occasionally by fist fights, kept Ice Pavilion patrons very much on edge during the second meeting of the Boston All-Stars and the New Edinburg hockey teams, which was won by the former by the score of 4 to 1.

Remarks by the Ottawa outfit that the local team did not know how to play hockey and was prone to show a streak of yellow served to rouse the ire of the All-Stars, while a decision against New Edinburg, made by Referee Reagan in the second period, stirred up the belligerent visitors, and from the middle of the second period onward the contest was marked by foul play by both teams, and a continual procession of players off and on the ice as the result of penalties imposed.

Twice the players came to blows, once with Red Synnott of the locals and C. Joliet of the Ottawa team, and again with Joe Mason and once with Jack Hutchinson of the All-Stars and Boucher of the visitors as the chief contenders.

New Edinboro's first and only tally came in the second period, while the four All-Star points all materialized in the third, two of them coming when the visitors had but three men on the ice.

SPRING FOOTBALL STARTS AT HARVARD APRIL 26

Spring football practice will start at Harvard on April 26, the Monday after the recess. Candidates will report at that time to Bob Fisher, head coach, and Captain Arnie Horween, although the former may not take active part in the Spring session.

Fisher hasn't yet signed a contract to act as coach again, but his present agreement covers the Spring session. The big coach is quite optimistic however in preliminary fashion with the Harvard folks, but hasn't yet come to any agreement with Neil Fall in view. Naturally enough the successful head coach, who not only defeated Yale, but won a national championship by defeating Oregon, looks for an increase in salary as long as he has made good, and when all is said and done, it is expected that his figures will be met.

MIKE O'DOWD KAYOS McCARRON IN THE 2ND

Philadelphia, March 2. Mike O'Dowd, middleweight champion, defeated Jack McCarron of Allentown by a knockout in the second round, before the Olympia A. A. tonight. McCarron was completely at the mercy of the champion and was sent finally succumbed.

"Babe" Ruth Starts With Homer

Jacksonville, Fla., March 2.—"Babe" Ruth gave a sample at South Side Park of what he intends to do to the balls pitched to him in this year's games to prove the Yankees were not stung when the record price of about $150,000 was paid for him. "Babe" was first at the bat for fungo practice. He whaled the initial ball a wallop that carried it well over the centrefield fence for a homer.

TAD'S TIDBITS

THE GREATEST FIGHTER HE EVER SAW.

Dear Tad:

Your interesting stories of great fighters brings to my mind the ring exploits of Les Darcy, who, while he was not allowed to show the great American sporting public his remarkable fighting qualities, proved in his native land when pitted against America's best that he had everything they had and a bit more.

When you review the way in which he handled the five American boxers, men who covered every style of fighter, and consider the fact that he was only twenty-one, and still growing, one cannot blame the Australians for thinking as they did that had Darcy lived, Australia today would have the heavyweight champion.

Take the five men I speak of. Gus Christie was first a rugged, game fighter and good puncher. Darcy beat him at everything. Eddie McGoorty, a deadly puncher, clever, and a fine ring general. Darcy showed McGoorty up. Then George Chip, a world's champion, representing another rugged type of fighter. He fared like those before him. Then Jimmy Clabby. He figured that speed and cleverness would do the trick. Darcy out-speeded and out-cleveredClabby, giving the critics the surprise of their lives.

The matchmakers were stumped after that, and tried once more for a man to beat Darcy. They figured on one of the Joe Grim type. So O. Brown of Chicago was brought over. Darcy not only outpunched Brown, but stayed right with him and actually outroughed him. It didn't matter what sort of a man they sent in against Les, he seemed to possess an appetite for all of them.

Yours sincerely,
FRED DYER.

MATMEN AGREE ON KILOURY

Will Be Third Man in Ring When Stanislaus Zbyszko Meets John Grandovich

Joe Kiloury, whose refereeing of wrestling events here has given such satisfaction to fans and performers, has been agreed upon to act as third man in the match between Stanislaus Zbyszko and John Grandovich, which will be one of the three events that make up the big all-star program in Mechanics Building on Thursday night. The selection was pleasing to everybody.

The big carnival has certainly stirred the fans, for besides the Zbyszko-Grandovich match there will be a finish affair between Cyclone Burns and Yusha, and the world's heavyweight jiu jitsu championship between Mayaki, the Jap titleholder, and Bob Brown, the Pacific coast champion.

COACH TESREAU LOOKS OVER DARTMOUTH SQUAD

Hanover, N. H., March 2.—Jeff Tesreau, Dartmouth's baseball coach, is here looking over the squad, which has been warming up in the cage at Alumni Gymnasium for the past week. Dartmouth's weakest spot right now is the box. The loss of Caddy Murphy cuts down the number of experienced moundsmen.

Frank Ross, two years' veteran catcher, will again hold down this berth, Kopf, at short, and Gale, who played second base two years ago are the only veteran infielders. The outfield, with four letter men, excluding Captain Marritt, is particularly strong.

M. A. H. S. TO MEET DORCHESTER

Latter Team Picked to Defeat Buff and Blue—Walsh Yet to Lose in 1,000

Dorchester High will meet the Mechanic Arts track team tomorrow at the East Armory. Dorchester High is favored to win over the wearers of the Buff and Blue, but the latter should prove an interesting one with plenty of good racing. Captain Pete Walsh of Dorchester, who has not been beaten this season over the 1,000-yard distance, should win this event. Roach, Chase and Kansky are good men in the dash, 300 and the 600-yard run respectively, and are expected to win their events. With four first places practically assured and with a sprinkling of seconds and thirds Coach Bill Pentergast of Dorchester feels confident of a victory.

Coach Joe Dunn has some good performers in Johnson, Randell and Dupree in the dash and should score some points with these men. Banks and Martin in the 300-yard run and Merriman, who should place next to Walsh in the 1,000-yard run are other boys who have shown promise on the M. A. H. S. team.

The track events only will be held tomorrow. The meet is scheduled to start at 3 p. m. in the East Armory. The field events are to be held in the Dorchester High Gymnasium at some later date.

Hickey, believes it will have the house ready for occupancy when the rowing season opens, and plans are already under way for the West Lynn crew for another leg on the Bennett cup.

50,000 SHOTS IN PINEHURST GOLF

Three Hundred and Eighteen in First Day of Spring Free-for-All Medal Play

ROBERT E. HARLOW.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 1.—Three hundred and eighteen golfing enthusiasts, among the number being some who add playing ability to their enthusiasm, used up in the vicinity of 50,000 shots and a number of pails in the first half of the qualifying round in the annual free-for-all Spring tournament here.

The final eighteen holes of the qualifying round to determine which one of two dozen or so sixteens the enthusiasts will start in the match play, was on today with every golfer vowing to beat his score for the first eighteen holes.

The score board containing the records of the 318 golfers for the first spot was not a pretty sight and did not in the least resemble the records of a national championship. One hundred here is not at all bad.

About 66 2-3 per cent. of the Spring tournament field require 100 efforts or more to complete eighteen holes and as the going was especially difficult Monday because of cold and wind, the scoreboard did not lack for triple numbers.

DAY STARTERS WELL UP.

Golfers from Massachusetts had nothing to complain about as they continued today in the second round of medal play, their average was quite as good as the average from any other section of the United States. Four Bay State players were included in the list of the sixteen who were leading the field when play started today.

George Murphy of Wollaston had the distinction of returning a 84, which was the best card for the No. 3 course. Billy Whittomb of Worcester had an 84 on No. 2 course. F. C. Newton of Brookline, Massachusetts State team captain, and Fred Ellett of Woodland each had 85. These four golfers had an excellent chance of getting into the first sixteen.

Murphy did a great "come back" as he had not broken 90 at Pinehurst until today. He says that he abandoned the overlapping grip and found his tee shot. He was hitting the ball hard and played consistently good golf.

FULFILLS EXPECTATIONS.

Fred Ellett of Wollaston, a golfer who has developed a good game faster than that of any other Massachusetts player, kept his head down all day and got a 42 out and a 43 in. Fred is a member of the Massachusetts team. Sam Graham of Greenwich led the field in the qualifying round at 77. He went out in 34 and returned in 43. Graham hit a fast streak in the first nine, getting three 3's and a 4 on the greens. Pressing Graham are L. A. Hamilton, Garden City, and H. P. Mackeen, who should place next to Walsh in the 1,000-yard run are other boys who have shown promise on the M. A. H. S. team.

The track events only will be held tomorrow. The meet is scheduled to start at 3 p. m. in the East Armory. The field events are to be held in the Dorchester High Gymnasium at some later date.

SEVENTY ANSWER B. C. CALL FOR BALL PLAYERS

More than seventy candidates answered Coach White's call for ballplayers at Boston College and the baseball squad expanded nearly 50 per cent within a few days.

After giving the men a little talk on baseball generalities from the outfitting plans for the season, the coach ordered the squad to the battery candidates and then gave those a short workout in the smoking room.

Candidates for fielding positions on the Harvard baseball team have been ordered to report next Monday. Coach Slattery made the first cut from his battery squad, retaining eighteen pitchers and nine catchers. He has a certain amount of attention every other day in the baseball cage.

Leander Leader in Worcester Match

Pinehurst, N. C., March 2.—Nineteen Worcester County golfers are contesting for the Worcester County Country Club Cup in connection with the 36-hole qualifying round in the Spring tournament. They will take their club handicaps from their gross scores for the 36 holes to determine the winner. The cup is now held by W. A. Whitcomb.

At the close of the first eighteen holes of play Leander F. Herring led, for this cup with 102—34—78 and Whitcomb was in second place with 84—44—84.

MARTIN MEETS DYSON TONIGHT

Boxers Battle in Feature Bout at Triple A; Good Card of Preliminaries

By RINGSIDE.

All roads for the flatic followers lead to Mechanics' Building tonight, where Bobby Dyson, the best little boy in New England, battles Terry Martin of Providence in the feature bout of the Triple A. card.

Dyson is in the pink of condition, having started training some weeks ago when Jimmy Wilde, the English titleholder, agreed to meet him here, and later for Pal Moore.

Martin, however, is well able to give the best of them a battle and, while not as well known as some of the so-called top ligers, deserves a higher place in the list of possible champion contenders. He showed here a short time ago against Joey Fox and gave the British battler the beating of his young life.

Dyson, it seems, has arrived at that stage where the champions are afraid to get in the same ring with him, but the fans will find in Martin a boy who should be rated close to the top.

A well-balanced card of preliminaries, as well as a bang-up semi-final, have been arranged.

PLENTY OF MILLING IN N. E. TITLE BOUTS

There was plenty of fighting, some wrestling and a little boxing at the N. E. A. A. U. championship bouts in Mechanics Hall.

Twenty-five bouts were necessary before the title winners in the eight classes were decided. Four titles were won by Boston boys, two by Brockton, one event went to Weymouth and one to Lowell. The new champions:

108 Pounds—James Manning, South Boston.
115 Pounds—James O'Conner, South End.
125 Pounds—Tony Julian, Brockton.
135 Pounds—Jack Ryan, South Boston.
145 Pounds—Henry Bohlin, Brockton.
158 Pounds—William O'Neil, Weymouth.
175 Pounds—Tom Sullivan, South Boston.
Heavyweight—Dan Coughlin, Lowell.

McRAE TO BATTLE JAWSON TOMORROW

Boxing fans of Boston will be treated to another all-star show when the Suffolk A. A. holds its bouts in Hibernian Hall tomorrow night. Howard McRae of Cambridge and Joe Jawson of Milwaukee will battle for the decision in the feature bout. McRae is one of the best of the crop of boys at the eighth mile post in this vicinity in years. A heady fighter and clever hitting while in the ring, Jawson has shown that he, too, has a no slouch and that he is well able to handle himself. His bout with Vincent Martin at the Commercial Club recently marks him a man of class.

Johnny Kilbane of Winchester and Johnny Giblin will throw gloves at each other in the other ten-round bout. Local boy will mix it in the two six-rounders.

DISTANCE RUNNERS ENTER TEN-MILE RACE

The ten-mile road race which is to be run under the auspices of the Michael J. O'Connell Post of the American Legion will have several of the long distance stars from all parts of the district entered. The race is an annual affair, which was formerly conducted by the Lynnfield Central A. A. and the Acme A. A. of Jamaica Plain. The race will start at the Lowell school, through Center, South, Beacon and Ashland streets, over Hyde Park avenue and back through South and Center streets.

DRISCOLL WANTS TO RUN SPECIAL WITH MINOT

"Jake" Driscoll, the Boston College flier, has challenged H. W. Minot to a special meeting over the 600-yard course. "Jake" recently outstripped the old Harvard runner in the Legion games, when the B. C. flier annexed the first leg on the Easton trophy. But Saturday evening the two New England championship games Minot reversed the order of things and left "Jake" behind.

Driscoll says that he would like to get a new rubber and make it two out of three.

SOMERVILLE FANS IN FOR BOXING TREAT

Somerville flatic followers will have a chance to witness some excellent bouts when the Maynard Square Civic Association runs its second "smoker" at K. of C. Hall, March 15.

Johnny Lynch, who has charge of the affair, has signed a great card to touch with Harry Loring and Young Fribel, the Winter Hill boxer. Lynch can be reached at No. 71 Hinckley street, or phone Somerville 5765-W.

RUTH

ONE of the loveliest names in the feminine catagory is Ruth.

It comes to us shrouded in mystery and bearing the tragic sweetness of Biblical story. The origin of the name has never been satisfactorily determined.

Some say that it comes from a Hebrew word meaning "trembling"; others say that its origin lies in a word from the same language meaning "joined together," but all agree that it must have some connection with the word "truth," signifying beauty.

As an English common noun, ruth has come to mean sorrow, pity, compassion. Whether it receives this interpretation from the story of the gentle and faithful Ruth of Biblical history, is open to belief.

Certainly the most famous Ruth of the ages was the lovely daughter-in-law of Naomi, who followed her into her own far country and gleaned the grain from the fields that they two might be fed. Artists have immortalized Ruth, the gleaner, standing in the fields, superb in her full-blown Hebrew beauty with the sheaves of grain clasped to her breast.

It was Ruth who voiced that exquisite promise which is synonymous with devotion in the world's famous utterances:

"Whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my my people; and thy God my God."

According to the Biblical story, Ruth became the wife of Boaz.

No nickname has ever been evolved from Ruth. The name preserved its dignity and pathetic sweetness throughout its history. It has been adopted, in a popular sense, only by the English language. In accordance with its significance, the pearl has been assigned Ruth as her talismanic stone.

Though the pearl, in this instance, probably means tears, it will undoubtedly produce the opposite effect upon the wearer, just as the opal ceases to be unlucky for those whose birth month is October. Pearls, worn by Ruth, will counteract her heritage to sorrow.

Thomas Hood expresses the poet's ideal of Ruth:

"She stands breast high among the corn,
Clasped by the golden light of morn,
Like the sweetheart of the sun
Who many a glowing kiss has won."

Frank, at Any Rate

After he had been demobilized, Simpson went to the photographer and was taken in all sorts of poses in his uniform, soon to be discarded.

He was proudly showing all these to a friend, when he asked:

"Which do you think is the best, Tom?"

The other man was disgusted at Simpson's vanity, and replied promptly:

"Well, personally, I think I like best the one where you are wearing the gas mask!"

Fraternal Friendship

A curate of a very nervous temperament was constantly making awkward remarks intended as compliments. Having distinguished himself in an unusual degree during a gathering of clergy at the bishop's palace, he was taken to task for his failings by a senior curate who was one of his companions on the way home. "Look here!" said the senior decidedly "You are a donkey! Mind you, I am speaking to you now as a brother!"

The Two Voices

CHAPTER XXXII.

WITHOUT allowing herself time to hesitate, Ruth Courtney went on to the library at the front of the house.

It was just twenty-four hours ago, she remembered swiftly, since she had entered this room in Doris' place. Now she would have to come every day. It was a long and hard game that she must play, but she would win it yet for the sake of Hugh Rodney.

And when she had won it—when he knew that she had cheated at the game—he would hate her!

The thought was like a sword-thrust. She closed her mind to this dangerous suggestion.

"Good morning, Hugh!" she greeted him brightly as she entered the library.

"Doris!" he exclaimed.

He looked past and beyond her—as the blind do. This sightless gaze showed her how utterly blind he was. It shocked her anew, yet it gave her courage. For if he was as blind as this there was no danger of his detecting the deception she was practising—unless her manner betrayed her. She must not let it.

He was holding out his arms for her to come to him. She laid her hands in his outstretched palms.

She hoped he would not greet her with an effusive affection. But her hope was vain. He drew her to him and kissed her on the forehead, cheeks and lips, before letting her go.

This action crystallized into a determination to have a talk with him that might make these scenes less trying to her.

"Sit down, Hugh," she commanded, "for I must have an important conversation with you."

Hugh Is Apprehensive

"Nothing's wrong—is there?" he queried quickly.

"No," she assured him, seating herself by him on the couch. "That is, nothing will be wrong if you do as I advise."

"I will do anything you say, except live without you," he said. "Always supposing you love me still and want to come to me every day. I must not be selfish—yet how could I give you up?"

"I do not purpose letting you find out!" she retorted gayly. "Here, let me arrange those cushions comfortably behind you. Then I must take off my coat if I am to stay here for a while."

"For a while!" he echoed. "Aren't you going to stay for a long time?"

"Not today," she told him. "It is of that that I wish to talk to you."

"Go ahead," he muttered, settling back upon his cushions. "Only hold my hand while you talk. It keeps me calm. And," with a wistful smile, "I like to feel that little ring on your finger."

She did not smile. But, as he was blind, he could not know that.

"Now, dear," she began, "I will be frank with you. In the first place, you know that my mother—while the best woman in the world—has her peculiarities."

"Yes," he admitted. "And one of those peculiarities is, I suppose, that she wants you to come home to luncheon today?"

He was still smiling.

"Yes, it is."

"But, he argued, "why cannot Ruth stay with her instead?"

"Huth," she said steadily, "must be away quite a bit with work in connection with the nursery the church is establishing."

"I do hope she is not going to be a sort of Mrs. Jellyby," he remarked. "I like Ruth, but I hate to have any girl put outside work ahead of her duty to her family."

Ruth Agrees Quickly

"That is what mother feels," Ruth saw her advantage and was quick to seize it. "You have hit the nail right on the head, Hugh. Mother wants me to be at home more than seems quite reasonable to me. To tell the truth, we had a rather uncomfortable scene this morning."

"Because of your coming here?"

"Yes, dear. Now do not worry, for I am coming as I resolved to do. But there are certain things that mother does not like. To keep them is a long engagement. But, since you are engaged, you are not going to be unengaged"—laughing lightly—"if I can help it.

"But as you cannot marry for a good while, and as mother has certain prejudices, I do feel we should observe them. It is my duty to her to do this.

"One of her prejudices is against my coming here daily. But I am not going to yield that point."

"Thank goodness!" he ejaculated. "Yet there are other things she would disapprove of—until the engagement is announced. One—" she paused, then resumed, with an effort, "one is an excess of affectionate demonstration."

"You mean," he demanded indignantly, "that she would object to my kissing you?"

"Well, Hugh," she checked his excitement by her low voice, "I did not say that. But I do not think she would like you to kiss me as you did just now."

The man frowned. "I love you, Doris. You belong to me."

"Until our engagement is announced we must be less demonstrative, Hugh."

There was a long silence. Then after a mute struggle, Hugh spoke.

"I see how it is. Your mother is not sure if I am ever going to be well enough to marry you. So she wants you to leave open a conventional way to escape!"

CHAPTER XXXIII.

HUGH RODNEY'S tone was bitter. Ruth winced, but her voice did not betray her hurt. Indeed she spoke lightly in reply.

"You must not talk like that, Hugh. It is not quite fair. One of mother's perfectly just and old-fashioned notions is that it is not 'nice' for a girl to call on a man. Yet to please me and comfort you she is allowing me to come here regularly. So when she asks that we behave a little more circumspectly than seems to you necessary we might humor her, don't you think? It will be only for a little while."

"Perhaps," he said gloomily.

"There is no perhaps about it. When you are really well and strong again, as you will be before long, mother's ideas will change."

"Then"—with forced calmness—"just when is it you want me to refrain from until I can pass a satisfactory health examination?"

Ruth answered with a severity she was far from feeling.

"If you are going to be sarcastic, Hugh, we would best not discuss the matter any further. I must act as I see fit without consulting you."

Her tone had the desired effect. He caught her by the arm.

"Doris, darling, forgive me! I am an unreasonable beast! Tell me what you want me to do, and I will obey."

"Very well," gently, "I want you to let me come to you every day."

"I would not let you stay away!" he interjected.

"And I would not be kept away," she said. "But you must let me chat with you and read to you, and act as if we were brother and sister, not a couple engaged to be married very soon. I do not mean that we must forget the engagement. We could not. But when I come you must not behave as you did just now, nor part from me in that way."

"In other words, I am not to take you in my arms, as I did just now?" he demanded. "Your mother would disapprove."

A Difficult Situation

"Yes—just that. She would certainly disapprove."

"But I may kiss you when you come and when you go, Ruth?"

She was glad nobody could see her face, for a flood of crimson swept across it. She was afraid he would hear the beating of her heart.

"Yes," she whispered, "you may kiss me when I come and when I go."

"And that is all? I may surely hold your hand—may sometimes put my arm around you?"

"You are holding my hand now," she strove to say naturally.

"And I mean to hold it as much as I want to !" he exclaimed with a touch of imperiousness that for a moment made him appear like the Hugh of the old days. "Unless," with a sudden change of manner, "you would rather not, Doris. Through all this talk you have said nothing of your own feelings."

"It is not necessary," she evaded.

His Little Failing

In the cold and chilly dawn the kindly old gentleman was waiting outside the prison gates to befriend discharged prisoners. He went up to one and asked if he needed any help.

"What brought you to this, my poor friend?" he asked kindly.

"I dunno, sir," replied the man sadly, "unless it was attendin' too many o' wot's-its."

"Ah, you learned to drink at those festivities, or to steal, perhaps?" the old gentleman suggested sympathetically.

"No, it wasn't that. You see, I was always the bridegroom."

April Folly

By Cynthia Stockley

Watch for This Story in Motion Pictures

"April Folly," soon to be seen in leading motion picture theatres, is a Cosmopolitan production, released through Famous Players-Lasky Corporation as a Paramount-Artcraft picture, under direction of Robert Z. Leonard. Scenario by Adrian Johnson.

THEN she stood in the open doorway, visible only because she wore a white dress.

"Come in," said Clive, with politeness, but irony not quite gone from her voice. The figure did not move or speak. For some reason unknown, April felt the hair on her scalp stir as though a chill wind had blown through it. And the same wind sent a thrill down her backbone. Clive repeated the invitation somewhat sharply, and then the girl spoke.

"I'm ashamed to come in."

The voice was timid and very low, but it was enough to make April give a broken cry and hide her face on Sarle's shoulder. Kenna leaped to his feet and next moment the yellow spurt of a lighted match in his hand revealed the grooping face of the girl in the doorway.

"My God! Diana!"

"Yes—isn't it awful!" she said mournfully. "I know I ought to be dead, but I'm not. How do you do, Ronny?"

She passed him and came slowly across the room to the girl who was trembling violently against Sarle's shoulder. The strain of the day, ending in this, was almost more than April Fools could bear.

"Don't be frightened, April," She was really concerned. "It is truly me and not my ghost. You see I never jumped overboard at all, but simply hid Insane of Godfrey Bellew's big packing cases. I really could not face those enraged beasts and philistines any longer."

There was an amused and gasping silence, but Diana, in the middle of the limelight, was in her element, and rapidly resained her self-possession. She tripped to Clive and shook her warmly by the hand.

"So pleased to see you. I should have come out here long ago, but I got so knocked about in the packing-case that I had to go to bed and be nursed by Geoff's old aunt at Wynberg. Everything perfectly proper, so don't be alarmed. She chaperoned us out here this afternoon, to see you, but, really, it was rather awkward with Ronny and Major Sarle turning up immediately afterward.

A Half-Hearted Apology

"We didn't expect to find April here either, especially. That was a nasty bang in the eye. So I begged Ghostie to hide us in her room, and we waited and waited, but these terrible men seem to have taken root here." She twinkled at them gaily, but no one appeared to have recovered sufficiently from shock to reciprocate her pert amusement. "So at last I had to bundle the others off and face the music alone. Especially as Belle Helene told me there was some sort of trouble following on that for April!"

"I suppose you never realized before that trouble has been boiling up for her ever since you disappeared," said Clive.

"Oh, I have been dreadfully sorry, and worrying myself to ribbons."

"It doesn't seem to have interfered with your health," was Clive's only rejoinder. "May one ask what you intended to do to put things straight?"

Diana had the grace to look slightly abashed—only slightly.

"There was nothing for it but to come out here to you and sit tight until the scandal has blown over, while April arranged to go to England. Once she got on board, she would have found a letter telling her it was all right and that I was not dead at all."

Might Have Been Dead

"Very charming and considerate, too," commented Ronald Kenna acidly. "A few other people, including Sarle and myself, might have been dead in the meantime, but would that have mattered?"

It was no use being acid with Diana, however. She was riotously pleased with herself and bubbling over with pride in her cleverness and joy in her escape from seclusion. Infection from her lightheartedness was almost impossible, and once the shock had passed April easily forgave her the cruel and thoughtless part she had played and the hours of anguish she had given.

Sarle and Kenna exchanged one grim glance, but it ended in a smile. The deep-rooted friendships of men do not hurry to such short and poor conclusions. Besides, Sarle, having come, in that hour, to the attainment of his heart's desire, was little inclined to fall out with fate or friends.

As for Kenna, he knew he needed all the friends he had to see him through. Looking at the gilt-haired minx who held his breast-strings, he saw, as in a vision, that the days of peaceful loneliness on the veld were closing in, and that the future held more uneasiness and folly than the month of April could cover.

THE END.

No Hope

The young man brought some verses to his father.

"Father," he said. "I have written poems."

"What! Let me see them instantly."

The father read them over carefully, the tears slowly welling to his eyes as he did so. Finishing the last one, he threw down the manuscript, folded the boy to his breast and sobbed.

"Oh, my poor, poor son!"

"Are they so bad as that, father?"

"Bad! They are excellent. They are real poetry. My boy, my boy, you will starve to death!"

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared. Any one should try it.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. It stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it and it is absolutely good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use strained molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as for results, you'll be delighted with them. No other medicine has such a quick effect in relieving the tickling throat, stopping the phlegm, and soothing the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soothes the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soothes your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Advertisement.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Drink plenty water.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, weak and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to get up two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's poisonous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated, and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

SCORES STOREY AND SIMS

Connolly in Address Declares They "Would Rather Be British Than American"

Bitterly arraigning Admiral Sims, as having openly and repeatedly insulted the American navy, assailing Moorfield Storey as "the type that would rather be English than American," James B. Connolly, the noted author and war correspondent, sounded a warning against "the infamous pro-British propaganda with which our nation is now seething," in an address delivered before the members of the Boston Catholic Union.

Connolly charged that on one occasion Sims pointed from the deck of an American battleship, on which he was stationed as an officer of the navy of the United States, to British ships of war nearby, and exclaimed, "Ah, that our navy had the efficiency of the British!"

He asserts that Sims' figures regarding the part played by our naval forces in the war, are "unfair and false." He assailed the Admiral as a "lover of the limelight," a "publicity artist."

BELITTLED U. S. NAVY.

"Sims thinks men, who never left their office chairs in London, should be decorated with Distinguished Service Medals while heroes such as Captain Bagley pass unhonored," Connolly stated.

He described his visit to the admiral's headquarters where the door was guarded by a "flunkey" and said it was his opinion that Sims deliberately belittled America's part in the war, and magnified the achievements of the Britishers.

In an attack upon the role assumed by the British navy in the war he cited statistics and other data to show that the policy of the Admiralty office was to "avoid a fight." The battle of Jutland, he declared, was a German victory.

"If the English ships had been manned by Americans, not one German ship would have reached port," said Connolly.

"LIMIES" COWARDLY ATTACKS.

He described the typical Britisher as "arrogant, overbearing and pompous," and told of cowardly attacks made upon American sailors by larger number of "Limies."

"Nevertheless, our boys usually cleaned up," he said, "after they had been subjected to insult and attack."

Of the League of Nations he said: "It is a camouflaged treaty to save England. That is the unofficial opinion of every American army and navy officer I ever talked with on the subject."

He flayed Moorfield Storey for his statement that the United States did not go into the war to make the world safe for democracy; it went in to save itself.

"We won the war when the allies were hanging on by their toes," he asserted, "and the French officers will tell you as much."

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

HAIR GROWN ON MR. BRITTAIN'S BALD HEAD BY INDIANS' MYSTERIOUS HAIR GROWER

My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. As experts said that as he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth. Yet now, at an age over 50, I have a luxurious growth of soft, strong, fine hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs.

At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian, "medicine man" who had an elixir that he asseverated would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon showed. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and are long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days.

Then I was astonished and happy in overseeing my state of mind mildly, but obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called Kotalko, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist.

That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved. Many men and women, also children, have reported satisfactory results from Kotalko.

How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair

My honest belief is that hair roots rarely die even when the hair falls out through dandruff, fever, excessive dryness or other disorders. I have been told by experts that often when hair falls out the roots become imbedded within the scalp, covered by hard skin, so that they remain for a time like bulbs or seeds in a bottle which will grow when fertilized. Shampoos (which contain alkalis) and hair lotions which contain alcohol are enemies to the hair, as they dry it, making it brittle. Kotalko contains those elements of nature which give new vitality to the scalp and hair.

For women's hair.

PRICES MIXED IN BOSTON

Tone Became Heavy, Owing to New York Decline; Curb Market Quiet

Opening irregular as to price changes, the Boston market developed no definite trend during the forenoon but the tone became heavier as a result of the influence of the recessional movement in New York. Trading was narrow and fluctuations were small as a rule. The market, in fact, was of the same general character as it has presented for several weeks. Coppers were very quiet. There was no great activity for packing shares. Rails were quiescent during the morning and sold lower on a few transactions.

There was less than usual trading in Orpheum. It sold off a point or more. Its directors have declared an initial quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, which was advanced two points on one sale.

Among stocks to recede a point during the forenoon were Massachusetts Electric preferred and Island Creek. Smaller losses were sustained by East Butte, Boston Elevated, Quincy and Helvetia.

Swift & Co. was up nearly two points at the opening, but soon lost part of its gain. Hancock, Ahmeek and Calumet & Arizona advanced a point or more. Fractional gains were made by American Telephone, Pond Creek, United Fruit, United Shoe, Elder, Waltham Watch and North Butte.

QUIET START FOR CURB.

The Boston Curb had a quiet start, the opening Thursday being fairly featureless. Transactions in this issue totalled about 40,000 shares during the first hour. High priced and low priced oils were weak. Silver issues were steady, but did not change much. As a rule they made early gains. Tip Top sold down to 12 cents in the first hour.

At the end of that period Boston & Montana was up 2 cents at 65 cents. Declines included Tip Top 3½ cents at 15 cents, Hecla Divide half a cent at 5⅛ cents and Atlas Tack ¼ at 30¾.

Food Shipments Decrease

Food shipments from this country to Europe are decreasing. The total foodstuffs exported in January were $28,-114,811 less in value than those for the corresponding 1919 month. The decrease in meats and dairy products was $26,859,410.

Mail Order Sales

Sales during February by Sears, Roebuck & Co., the greatest of mail order houses, amounted to $28,202,067. This is an increase of $12,290,529 over the total for the corresponding month last year.

IT'S WHITE AND 90c

NEW SAFETY PAPER tells you that it has assured orders for 1,000 tons the first year of doing business, which would earn 30% on $1 shares. Some of you have understood this and joined us; others are still in doubt and hesitate to commit themselves. Here's a new one; IT'S WHITE, too!

Last Thursday a paper expert called at our office, attracted by an ad. in the Boston American. "IT IT'S WHITE," he said, "I want to see it." He saw it and the MONOPOLISTIC QUALITY of it, and was told us that we had a wonderful proposition. He told us other things which would make you doubters blush with shame. Call and see us and we will tell you the facts. They are WHITE, too.

He gave us his unbiased opinion based upon knowledge and experience. He is a disinterested authority and competent. We have been all thru what he said and we know that we can bank on his sizing up of the situation.

His visit brought us double the amount of business that we have been relying on for our first year. This means double the estimated profits for that year and double the resulting increase in the value of the shares. Everything like this is proper basis for a WHITE AND 90c. There is nothing like the proposition we are offering you. When an expert and a man who knows all about paper says that we have a wonderful proposition, that means something unusual, extraordinary and highly profitable.

We want a few investors who can comprehend a business capable of earning 30% to 100% on their investment to investigate this opportunity to repeat the success of Gillette, Eastman and Ford and make as much money in NEW SAFETY PAPER, a "White Man's" proposition. We are talking to you. Fortune is knocking at your door. ACT before it is too late.

HIGH INTEREST RATES ASKED IN FEBBRUARY

Interest charges on brokerage accounts in February this year were the highest for any month since the war began, the average being fully 1 per cent. above the January figure. The Boston News Bureau says: "The bottom rate is 6½ per cent., the house naming that rate increasing up to 9½ per cent. for the maximum. Another large house charged from 9¼ per cent. to 10½ per cent., with the general rate close to 10 per cent. Still another of the largest firms named 10 per cent, to 11 per cent., with 10 per cent. the average in point of volume, but with 10½ per cent prevailing numerically.

"Several firms, not generally ranked among the biggest commission houses, charged as high as 12 per cent., tapering down to 10 per cent. for large and active accounts. Wire houses as a rule named 10 per cent. or 10½ per cent. to correspondents."

RAILS IMPROVE BEFORE NOON

Steels, Motors and Equipments Fail to Rally Much During Morning

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor

Stocks were weak in New York at noon, sales were within the lowest level of the morning. Rails were irregular but improved in the second hour. There was an upward movement for some oils. Steels, motors and equipments remained weak. The market was comparatively dull, first hour transactions totaling around 250,000 shares. Call money renewed at 10 per cent. Demand sterling opened 1¢ cents higher at $2.45½.

Bears began a drive on rails as the market opened, and while prices moved irregularly at the start the trend was downward over the week's end. Within a few minutes the market became weak. Steels and equipments were under strong selling pressure at the opening and when they yielded the whole list was influenced.

The improvement resulting from the Superior Court decision that the U. S. Steel Corporation is not an illegal combination was lost when stocks up yesterday afternoon but failed to hold them up this morning. Although railroads back in the hands of their owners, the predicted buying of their stocks is not materializing to any great extent.

Railway shares were rather heavy and in moderate demand only. That they will grow in investment favor is believed, but the improvement will be slow, probably. The recessional movement reduced prices in general from fractions to more than six points within thirty minutes. Endicott Johnson was the weakest issue. It was active, too.

BEARS SHIFT QUICKLY.

The market was made by the professional crowd and they were about all bears. But this element is not displaying any decided conviction as to the future, shifting position with great rapidity and retiring in and out with all the alertness possible. The recent advance is attributed mainly to covering of shorts. There was decreased demand for stocks in the stock loan market after the market closed yesterday.

MONEY SITUATION BETTER.

While surface signs may not indicate it, it is understood that bankers regard the money situation as better. There is hope in that quarter of declared improvement late in this month or early in April. Wall Street brokerage loans are reported to total considerably more than a billion dollars at present.

After commercial credits have been reduced to a like degree there should be plenty of funds available for both business and speculation. But until there is thorough readjustment it will be found that financial authorities will not relax in the least their efforts to prevent credit expansion.

LEATHER ISSUES PROVE VERY WEAK

By BROADAN WALL.

New York, March 2.—Return of the railroads to their private owners was a wet-blanket on the stock market yesterday, and prices began falling as soon as business opened. The market was very weak and was becoming more active when the Supreme Court announced that the United States Steel Corporation is not a trust, and therefore need not dissolve.

This checked selling in the industrials and caused a sharp rally, which apparently had not spent its force when the market closed. The net result of the day was some advances in the industrials, but with no material change in the rails. Money was at 10 per cent.

Bankers had a meeting during the day and announced that loans were in good condition, which was interesting, but not news. The Wall Street loans have been brought down to less than $1,000,000,000. The stock market is the strongest thing in the country. The weakness is in the commercial loans, and the commercial bankers are doing most of the worrying.

Endicott-Johnson stock was one of the weakest issues on the list. This was undoubtedly due to the fact that attention had been called to its hoarding of cash. Other shoe issues with Central Leather did the same thing. Hide & Leather broke along with Endicott-Johnson, as did Central Leather, evidently because the same conditions exists in that company. The profiteering in shoes has been particularly obnoxious to the public because it hits the children of the poor harder than any other.

While the decision of the Supreme Court on the Steel Corporation lessens Wall Street as a buying proposition, it is not likely to prove more than a temporary bullish factor. Action of the railroad stocks was a bitter disappointment to the street. Nearly every bullish prediction by a group of customers loge on the low-priced rails which were to do wonderous things as soon as they were returned back to private ownership.

In the face of this situation there is a possibility that another great selling movement of railroad stocks for the account of Great Britain will be seen.

After the bankers met today Wall Street heard that Germany was planning an interior loan of 10,000,000,000 marks and that existing domestic loans would be repudiated.

CONSUMES TO PAY MORE FOR ANTHRACITE

Consumers who use anthracite coal, the kind used for household and heating purposes in general in this part of the country, will have to pay more for coal, according to all signs of the time. An advance in price is forecast by Secretary Charles S. Allen of the Wholesale Coal Trade Association. He said:

"The wage agreement with miners expires March 31, and it is likely that they will demand increased wages, and the government in all probability will intervene and prevent them substantially what they ask. In view of the present narrow margin on which the coal business is being conducted, it, like every other business, will be compelled to pass these increases on to the consumer."

275 BARRELS OF HIGH PRICE POTATOES BURN

Houlton, Me., March 2.—With potatoes selling in Boston at $1.25 the peck, 275 barrels were reased in a fire in the Canadian Pacific Railroad station here, causing a loss estimated at $6,000. The heater car was badly damaged.

Record High Crude Oil Price

A record high crude oil price is being asked for the output of the Kansas, Oklahoma, Ranger and Burkburnett districts. It is $2.50 a barrel, an advance of 25 cents a barrel. Mid-Continent producers have also boosted their prices as much. The price of gasoline has been advanced a cent a gallon to 22 cents, tank wagon basis, in Pennsylvania and Delaware and kerosene is also a cent higher in those States. Advances everywhere may be expected.

Belgium Seeking Iron Here

How fast Belgium is recovering industrially is indicated by an inquiry for 100,000 tons of iron and 100,000 tons of steel-making pig iron. There is little chance, according to trade reports, of any such amount being shipped. It cannot be obtained at present, and the price is prohibitive for exchange rate and other reasons. A small tonnage of such iron recently brought $43 a ton for export.

Refiner Cuts Sugar Price

The National Sugar Refining Company is quoting refined granulated sugar at 14 cents a pound, less 4 per cent. off. This is a price reduction of one cent. The company is not accepting orders at that figure, at present, however. A cut by the American Sugar Refining Company is expected soon. Before the sugar gets to the consumer the profits of the wholesaler and retailer will be added to the price.

Reduced Coal Prodduction

Production of bituminous coal for the week ended February 21 was 9,580,000 net tons, or 391,000 less than for the preceding week. The anthracite output for the former period is estimated at 1,463,000 net tons, a decrease of 310,000.

New Locomotives for B. & M.

The Boston & Maine Railroad has placed with the American Locomotive Company an order for twenty Mikado engines.

Pathe Exchange, Inc., declared dividend of 50 per cent. from surplus profits on common stock payable forthwith to stock of record February 26.

Corporation Earnings

For 1919 the Corn Products Refining Co. reports net income after all charges and taxes of $18,112,466, equal to $11.64 a share on 1,500,000 common shares.

For the year the American Snuff Company's net balance after all charges and taxes of $1,750,000 was $1,471,442, equal to $1,250,000 common shares.

The Pullman Tank Car Co. reports for 1919 net sales, after operating expenses, of $6,610,765; net earnings after depreciation and taxes of $1,178,4 , a share was declared on preferred payable April 15 to holders of record March 31.

During the first six months of its current fiscal year, from service profits, Tobacco earnings $7,453,347 compares with $4,277,272 for the corresponding previous period. It is figured that for the full year earnings will be $14,906,694, or $29.81 a share on common after the dividend on preferred and sinking payments.

Boston Financial Notes

Wilbert R. Bartlett has been elected chairman of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Trust Company. Mr. Bartlett is also a vice-president of the company.

Trading on the Boston Stock Exchange on Saturday last was the dullest for any market day in a year. The February sales of stocks totalled 454,221 shares, or 180,658 less than during the corresponding month of last year. But there was $18,550 in preferred listed on the sales, the largest for $1,600,000 since 1917.

At the end of 1919 American Telephone's outstanding stock consisted of par valuation to $643,881,200, its present capitalization is $700,000,000 and stockholders will vote on March 30 on increasing it to $750,000,000.

CENSOR BILL TO HIT U. S. FILMS

Proposed Law Would Interfere With Government Americanization Plan

The big government program for Americanization through motion pictures, to carry on which Franklin K. Lane, as Secretary of the Interior, mobilized the film industry of the country, stands in jeopardy in Massachusetts if the censorship bill is passed in this State.

This is one of the vital issues advanced by the opponents of the measure. Legislation bill to the legislative Committee on Mercantile Affairs in connection with the hearing at the State House today.

WOULD BLOCK U. S. FILMS.

That the government had in contemplation a vast program, with a half a million feet of film already in process of manufacture, and that the censorship bill would interfere with this important project were two of the sensational developments in the controversy over today.

Judge J. Albert Brackett, conducting the opposition to the motion picture censorship, brought forth the information in a statement.

"The motion picture industry of this country has been mobilized to defeat Americanization," said Judge Brackett.

"The leading men of the industry have pledged to Franklin K. Lane, as Secretary of the Interior, all the resources of their organization, the services of the stars and directors and the co-operation of the exhibitors in a concerted drive across the country to combat Bolshevism, and, in the words of Vice-President Marshall, to fight for the winning of America for Americans."

MOVIE LEADERS ADD U. S.

"The movement was started as a result of an interview held by Secretary Lane to some of the leading men of the industry, and which was followed by a conference at Mr. Lane's office in Washington. At the conference were William A. Brady president of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry; John D. Flynn, of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation; Gabriel L. Hess of the Goldwyn Pictures Corporation; William R. Atkinson, of the Metro Pictures Corporation; Lewis J. Selznick and Charles J. Pettijohn, of the Selznick interests and of the Select Pictures Corporation; William Wright, of the Vitagraph Company; P. A. Powers, of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company; Oscar Price, of the United Artists' Corporation; Sherry H. Crandall and Colonel Barry Buckley, representing the exhibitors; Frederick H. Elliott, executive secretary, and Jack S. Connolly, Washington representative of the National Association of Motion Picture Industry; Paul E. Kriener, Washington manager of the Fox Film Corporation, and William Hinds, of the Hallmark Pictures Corporation.

"As this movement for a country-wide campaign for Americanization was laid out and the motion picture concerns pledged heartily and unanimously in supporting the request of the Secretary of the Interior.

"Speaking to this committee Secretary Lane said: 'It is believed that the time has now come when the leading moving picture producing concerns can be enlisted in the Americanization movement and perhaps induced to go further and do it in the same manner in which they gave such splendid support to the government during the war period. There is need of a movement which will inspire a patriotism as intense as the patriotism of war. In some manner there must be inspired respect for the laws of the land and for law and order.'

PRAISES FILMS IN WAR.

"Vice-President Marshall said at another conference following this committee meeting: 'No single industry in America did so much to arouse the zeal, the fervor and the patriotism of the country as did the motion picture industry of America.

Your loyalty and devotion and your sacrifices to your government exhibited the best traits of the new victorious in its purpose. It came out before the world fully as important as the winning of the war, that is

Even Our Own Blunders Redound in Favor of Our Form of Government

Edward H. Letchworth is a Buffalo banker. The other day he spoke in Boston at the meeting of the Unitarian Laymen's League at the Unity House, Park square.

He attacked the recent movements against free speech and the prevalence of selfish materialism which he declared threatened the foundation of our government. He also attacked the methods employed to suppress the so-called "Reds," and the example he gave of it is thoroughly typical of the methods in vogue to manufacture this hysteria against alleged revolutionary conspiracies.

Mr. Letchworth said that he was recently denounced by a detective for "having lunched with a dangerous leader of the Reds." Now, the singular part of it all was that this dangerous leader of the Reds with whom Mr. Letchworth lunched was the very man whom this detective had introduced to Mr. Letchworth "as a man suitable to carry on a certain line of benevolent work."

All over the country this very sort of thing has been going on until the public has been worked up into the belief that in every garret and cellar of a poor man's house and even in some of the parlors of the rich there are bombs and bowie knives and rifles to overthrow the government, and so atrophied has the public mind become as a consequence of submitting to war propaganda that the people at large have not attempted to analyze the silly stuff and thus to appreciate how absurd it is to believe that our government could be overthrown by violence which did not make a hundred thousand times greater exhibition of itself than it has yet made.

But one of the things that makes us feel that fate especially favors America is that the consequences of our blunders and stupidity seem to redound ultimately in favor of our form of government. The momentary lapse of the great middle classes in their tradition of sensitiveness concerning attacks upon free speech and a free press has aroused a great many conservatives who really do love our form of government and have generally been found opposing radicals because radicals were advocating changes in its form in order to make, as they believe, the government suit the times. This conservative class has heard the summons to defend the bill of rights and has responded splendidly.

Bankers, judges, college presidents and even the representatives of some of our old rich families have joined in the protest against heresy hunting.

Prussianizing the Two Big Political Parties

The women suffragettes have congratulated Mr. Will Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, upon his advocacy of making a declaration for Woman Suffrage a plank in the platform of the next Republican National Convention.

This suggests an observation on the change which is going on in American political methods of the two old parties. In times gone by the historic function of a national committee of any party was that of organization of the fighting forces of the party and of the conduct of the physical battle. The issues on which a campaign was to be fought were left to the statesmen. The national committee were the soldiers. Those who drew the platform and framed the issues over which the political war was to be waged were the statesmen. They used to be the distinguished members of Congress who made the national party records and who framed the issues upon those records for public approval or disapproval at the national election.

But now all this is being altered. Now the chairman of the national committee, who should be the general in the field, who, in the past had nothing to do with policies, spends most of his time framing policies and is indeed the apparent dictator of policy to his party.

Imitating Hays is the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Mr. Cummings. If it were not for the overshadowing presence of Mr. Bryan, Mr. Cummings would appear in the role of dictator of party policy. Indeed, he did occupy the role in that respect until Mr. Bryan appeared on the scene.

This is not the ideal way of conducting a party program. It is Prussianizing our American political parties. We are making the chairmen of our national committees occupy the same position precisely which Ludendorff occupied in Germany, to Germany's disaster and the agony of the whole world. He not only commanded the military forces, but he commanded the policies of Germany and he subordinated those policies to his view of the exigencies of war. He gave them the tinge of war. He decided them from a soldier's viewpoint and with the ignorance of a soldier.

If the men who are considered fit to conduct the registration of voters and the methods of getting them to the polls and the organization of rallies and other executive and administrative work are also to be considered most fit to formulate the policies of the party, then we shall soon have the Democratic and Republican parties fighting each other like professional soldiers without knowing what their differences are, and they will both go down before a third party better organized and better fought, because organized and fought under the direction of those who made organization their sole duty, and under better standards and with worthier objects and with a better morale, because their policies were better, their objects were better, their standards were better and were better because those who formulated them made that alone their special duty.

WEST ORANGE, N. J.

DEAR K. C. B.
I WAS invited to dine
AT A friend's house,
AND WHEN I arrived.
HIS WIFE admitted me,
AND MY friend,
CAME WANDERING in.
FROM BACK somewhere.
AND SAID "Hello, old man.
AND HOW are you anyhow?"
AND HIS wife said,
"SHOW HIM upstairs."
AND WHEN we got up.
MY FRIEND said,
"DO YOU want a wash?"
AND HE led the way.
TO A nice bathroom.
ALL PRETTY and white.
WITH FANCY fixtures.
AND GUESTS' towels.
AND MY friend said.
"MAKE YOURSELF at home."
AND THEN he left.
AND I washed my face.
AND WASHED my hands.
AND MUSSED my hair.
AND WIPED on a towel.
ALL COVERED with flowers.
AND LOOKED around.
FOR A brush and comb.
BUT THERE was none.
AND I opened up.
THE MEDICINE chest.
AND FOUND none there.
AND THEN went out.
AND SNEAKED into a room.
AND LOOKED around.
BUT FOUND no tools.
AND WENT back again.
TO THE white bathroom.
AND CURRIED my hair,
WITH A small nailbrush,
AND LOOKED quite wild,
AS A CAT might look.
WHEN IT'S scared to death.
AND WENT downstairs.
AND K. C. B.
THERE ARE so many places,
WHERE I have been.
WHERE THEY turn you loose.
AS THEY turned me there.
AND GO away.
AND LEAVE you alone.
AND YOU never can kick.
BECAUSE THEY'RE friends.
AND YOU'RE a guest.
AND INVITED you.
TO DINE with them.
AND THEY seem to assume.
THAT YOUR head is bald.
EVEN THOUGH it is.
THAT YOU have some hair.
THAT SHOULD be combed.
AND ALSO brushed.
AND I'M asking you.
IF YOU'LL slip this in.
WHERE YOUR column goes.
FOR IF you do.
I FEEL quite sure.
IT WILL help a lot.
YOURS VERY truly.

I THANK YOU.

Letters to the Editor

Soldiers' Bodies

Editor Boston American:

May I have the privilege, as a Princetonian of the class of 1916, who served as an officer during the recent war, of asking your serious consideration of a matter which is, I believe, of the utmost interest to the people of this nation of ours, and which is especially keenly felt by those of us who lost loved ones in the service of their country?

I am writing to you about the matter for the reason that I know it will be close to your heart, and also for the reason that your influence can be made so effective in helping to prevent the consummation of a proceeding which, in my opinion, would be one of the most ghastly and inexcusable things in all history.

In Some Cases

The matter to which I refer is the present plan of the administration to have the bodies of our boys who died in the service brought home in those cases in which they were buried in Russia, Germany and certain provinces of France. I am also given to understand that diplomatic negotiations are under way to secure the permission of the French government to bring back all bodies of our boys buried in France, in those cases in which it is so requested by parents.

As it is, of course, the most natural thing in the world for most parents to make such a request, I presume that a large percentage have done so or will do so, and I shall not endeavor to try to explain to you what such a proceeding as this would mean to the families concerned here in America, and also to the nation at large.

Those of us who have seen the way those things must necessarily be done while we were on the other side, and who are familiar with the manner in which they must needs be handled and mismanaged by the War Department, and the wholesale treatment that would be necessary in accomplishing such a vast undertaking, realize fully what a ghastly and brutal thing it would be. Roosevelt understood, and I believe that were he living today he would have used the utmost of his great influence to try to prevent its consummation.

This country is already in the throes of trouble and sorrow, and so forth, and it would be indeed terrible to reopen the greatest sorrow of all by such a performance as this. The boys were buried without any embalming, were not put in metal caskets, and in most cases more than a year has elapsed since they were interred.

More Human

It would surely seem that the human thing and the fitting thing would be for the government to institute beautiful cemeteries in France, dedicated to these boys of ours who gave their lives. These great cemeteries would serve the double purpose of being a tribute to those boys who gave their lives, and at the same time would constitute the most forceful object lesson possible to future generations in their efforts to reach the ideal of universal peace.

It is my opinion that the ex-service men and officers without exception will concur in the sentiments that I have expressed in this letter, and that the reason the program has gone thus far without opposition is because it is a matter of such a personal nature that those concerned have not had the heart to attack it in as forcible a manner as would be the case were it of a more impersonal nature.

Fairness

Editor Boston American:

I have read with great satisfaction your articles entitled "The Answer to Ulster." The facts contained therein are to my mind conclusive, and I congratulate the Boston American for its fairness in publishing them. Mr. McSweeney is to be congratulated on his splendid effort to put forward the Irish question that all citizens may have an opportunity to form their own judgment in the matter.

HOW BEST TO PREVENT TAKING COLD

By Dr. H. S. Jelalian

FEBRUARY, true to type, was a fearful month this year, with its continuous snowdrifts and penetrating, chilly winds. What March has in store for us we do not know. She has always something unexpected up her sleeve.

Once an eminent professor on theory and practice of medicine, speaking to his class on this subject, remarked that "cold" was a God-sent relief to the doctor who was mystified about the diagnosis of the case in hand, and to the patient who, by this blanket expression, could be kept in ignorance of the seriousness of his malady.

In the Chest

The common cold is generally caught in the region of the chest, so we take for our illustration that part of the surface of the human body.

There are two kinds of nerve filaments which have control over the blood vessels — constrictor nerves and dilator nerves. The constrictors have the function of pressing upon the blood vessels, diminishing their lumen, and consequently allowing the blood to flow into the internal organs. When this takes place by an irritant on these nerves, there will be hyperaemia internally and anaemia externally.

This means disturbance of the equilibrium of the blood circulation in the different parts of the body. And that is why the surface temperature falls and the internal blood pressure rises. This also occurs in the so-called shock, only in a more aggravated form, where hot applications are made to the surface to stimulate the dilator nerves, thus reversing the process and bringing back the normal amount of blood to the surface.

Sudden chills of wind and moisture act as an irritant to these nerves and produce the usual phenomenon called "cold." Sneezing, which is a common symptom, is only an effort of nature to relieve the internal congestion.

Catching Cold

Do not expose your chest or your legs to chills and violent currents of air. Women are the greatest sinners against this law. Mouth-breathers are a class of people who frequently catch cold. Breathe through your nose.

Another class of women, going to the other extremity, wrap themselves up in furs and mufflers, and thus suffocate the surface of the body, which should be covered as uniformly and equably as possible. Cold, caught in these manners has been the inception of some of the more serious maladies, such as pneumonia and its sequelae. Obey the law of Nature and do not catch cold.

No Cash in the Game
No Cash, No Business
The Dust Settles
Organized Money on Top

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1920)

The shortage of money worries the country. Printing presses have been turning out nice fresh money by the hundreds of millions since the war started, therefore the shortage puzzles people. But it need not.

Otto H. Kahn, an able young banker who has solved his individual currency problem, put the fundamental facts in a half minute's telephone conversation yesterday. Said he: "The government which doesn't need credits gathers in all the available cash by its income tax system, squanders it, and business men actually haven't ready money with which to develop industry and carry on the work of reconstruction."

Suppose a gigantically rich man, with unlimited credit and money, had around him a lot of small farmers needing cash to buy seed, agricultural machinery, fertilizer, etc. Suppose that rich man controlling the little farmers took from them every dollar of cash as fast as they got it, and used it in his business, leaving them with no cash and little credit, how do you think they would prosper?

That is what happens in the United States. The government sends out its agents collecting as income tax practically all the ready cash, and often more. If a concern makes twenty-five per cent. in the year, not more than ten per cent. is actual cash. The rest goes into increased plant, deferred payments, etc. But of the twenty-five per cent., half or nearly half, must go to the government in actual cash. "If you haven't got it, borrow it."

Should the income tax be done away with or cut down? By no means. It is the fairest tax, the absolutely just tax. It will remain.

Should taxes be laid alike on big and little incomes? By no means. The load should be put on the backs able to carry it. The rich man can carry the load, he receives greater insurance and protection from government than the little man, and he should pay in proportion.

You cannot always trust protests or opinions of the very rich regarding income tax, "for everyone is as God has made him, and oftentimes a great deal worse," as Sancho Panza says. A big percentage of income tax payers would gladly wriggle out on any pretext.

But the government is too earnest a collector of ready cash. Every year it puts its hand into the industrial and commercial game of the United States, and takes away practically all of the "chips" or ready money with which the game is run.

Business men are bidding for credit at usurious rates of interest. Men with money to lend are not only permitted but invited to profiteer.

Concerns, absolutely sound, wishing to increase their enterprises, thus giving work and increasing production, must go to the bank, like a vagabond pawning his coat, grateful for what he gets and willing to pay any rate demanded.

This system is forced upon the financial institutions of the country. They do not want it.

If one great capitalist, surrounded by thousands of little men, arranged once or twice every year to take all the cash they had he would ruin them in the end and keep money tight all the time. The United States government, with wealth and credit unlimited, surrounded by millions of little men, spends millions annually collecting all ready cash from the little men raking it in, squandering it shamefully.

It is for collective wisdom to decide how the load of taxation can be placed properly on wealth, through graduated income tax, without criminal wastefulness by the government, and without taking from business men, big and little, all the cash there is in the business.

Until that problem is settled, money will be tight, business bad, and things getting worse.

Private owners have their railroads—and the government, which means you and the other taxpayers, paid full dividends, the highest they ever had, while the government held the roads. The taxpayers carried the roads through a period when the owners couldn't possibly have borrowed money, could not have solved financial or any labor problem, and when, without the government's support, that is today, without the use of your pocketbook, one-half the railroads at least would have gone bankrupt.

While government carried those railroads for the private owners, nine hundred million dollars of your money were spent on those roads. You hope, perhaps, that private ownership will now show gratitude. If so, you hope foolishly.
